FOREIGN TRAVEL FOR BREEDING STOCK

During the past twelve months we have commented in these columns on international flat racing and steeplechasing, more particularly on the Washington, D. C. International at Laurel and the International Steeplechase Handicap at Belmont. This week we take up the international phases of the breeding picture, with special reference to the advantages of foreign travel as exemplified in the recent victory of Never Say Die in the Epsom Derby.

The travel theory goes something like this. In his natural state the horse is not only gregarious, but nomadic. On the plains of central Asia and Arabia herds of horses migrated annually for long distances, seeking better climate, water and forage. One of the earliest documentary films made in this country, entitled "Grass", showed such a migration of flocks and herds in the mountains of the Near East. The theory is that the domesticated horse, confined for most of his life to one stud farm, does not do as well as if he were allowed to change water, feed and climate.

Undoubtedly the foremost modern exponent of this theory has been Federico Tesio. From his stud in Italy he has shipped mares, not only to other studs in that country, but also to leading stallions in England, France and Germany. Considering the size of his broodmare band he has undoubtedly been the most successful breeder in the world, producing not only Nearco, but a host of other horses whose greatness has been proved both on the racecourse and in the stud.

During the course of last week's annual meeting of the Virginia Horsemen's Association and between the telephone calls which poured in from widely assorted points of North America, Humphrey Finney, President of the Fasig-Tipton sales company, filled in some background on Robert Sterling Clark's Never Say Die, recent winner of the Epsom Derby. Mr. Finney spoke with even more than his customary authority, since for a number of years he acted as advisor to Mr. Clark in the management of the latter's Sundridge stud farm near Upperville, Virginia. Back in 1926, before Finney assumed this position, Mr. Clark, then embarking upon his career as a breeder of race horses, sought out the counsel of Arthur B. Hancock of Claiborne Farm, Paris, Kentucky. The latter advised him to buy 2 to 3 top fillies every year, fillies whose pedigree and conformation would make them broodmare as well as racing prospects.

Mr. Clark bought several including a weanling in 1927 (from Mr. Hancock) by *Sir Gallahad III which he named Galaday. Like Signor Tesio, Mr. Clark believes in the advantages of foreign travel for his broodmares. Consequently Galaday was shipped to England as a 4-year-old and then to France where she produced *Galatea II (1936) by Dark Legend; the latter proceeded to vindicate Mr. Clark's theories in spectacular fashion by winning the 1000 Guineas and The Oaks.

Before coming back to Sundridge Farm at Upperville in 1940 Galaday produced *Boreale by Vatout. This filly was shipped to this country as a yearling in 1939 and put to racing. She was definitely an ugly duckling, leggy and wasp-waisted, and her looks were matched by her racing class, for she appeared only once in the winners circle, at Havre-de-Grace in a maiden race for 3-year-olds, her share of the purse amounting to a mere $700.

Evidently more foreign travel was required. To the cover of War Admiral she produced Singing Grass which was sent to England, won 7 races and, as Vol. 32 of the English General Stud Book states, was "covered in 1950 by Nasrullah (in Ireland) and sent back to the United States where she had produce"—we'll say!

The said produce was Never Say Die, foaled in Kentucky, and sent to England where he became the first American-bred horse to win the Epsom Derby since Iroquois in 1881. Actually no winner of this greatest of the classic races has had so international a background. Not only the bloodlines, but also the soil, water and climate of 4 different countries played major parts in his production—the United States, France, England and Ireland. In the realm of bloodstock, as in all walks of life, we are indeed living in one world.

Letters To The Editor

Poor Announcing

Dear Sir:

In the hope that this letter of criticism will prove to be of a constructive nature, the writer wishes to comment on one aspect of the recent Devon Horse Show.

This most outstanding Horse Show of the East, with excellent stabling facilities, beautiful grounds and fine conditions for public viewing of all classes, fails completely on one important point. At the end of each class, the winning horses are announced publicly only by number!! I was told that the names of horses were only announced, when a challenge trophy had been won. That really did happen, when a heavy harness horse retired a trophy.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS
OF THE TURFRacing Review*Stakes Results at Belmont, Monmouth, Delaware
Lincoln Fields, and Detroit*Raleigh Burroughs*Belmont Park

The Belmont Stakes, 86th running, 1½ miles, 3-year-olds (June 12). Precisely what was predicted in this space two weeks ago has come to pass—a three-year-old was victorious in the Belmont Stakes.

Few other observers have been so correct. Most of those who expressed an opinion named some particular three-year-old—a serious mistake and the obvious reason why selectors so frequently err.

Anyone who has watched even one episode of that exciting television serial "Mr. Chairman, or the Meeting of the Bored" should have learned that there are ways to respond to a question without answering it. In vaudeville, this was known as "double talk" and was considered very funny. One acquires proficiency with practice.

Coming up to the Belmont Stakes, a judicious public handicapper might have dodged the issue without incurring severe criticism. Economy of comment would follow. For eight of the horses the linotyper could have cast the slug "Top effort will win." For the other five, "Ripe for Fairmount Park opening" would have fit.

After the mile-and-a-half race, word got around that Max Hirsch had considered High Gun a real good one as far back as last winter. The same could have been said of C. Whittingham's feelings regarding Porterhouse and Noble Threewitt's toward Correlation and, well—see entries for complete list.

After the Peter Pan, everybody knew that High Gun was a better-than-fair colt with 116 pounds up, and with Jet Action to run Fisherman into the ground. But several others had better credentials, if they'd only use them.

Most of the fellows who must name a selection, whether they wish to or not, went to Correlation, figuring maybe he'd do it this time, or that there is magic in Arcaro. A few thought about Max Hirsch and took High Gun. And there was Porterhouse, high-weight in the Experimental Handicap, going at 9 to 1.

Usually, when Belmont time rolls around, the three-year-olds have been rather well classified, and the chaff has been cast aside. This year, the race was wide open as a Kentucky Derby; certain of the wheat had a very "chaffy" look.

The fans bet Correlation into favoritism without much confidence, but because they felt he could if he would; had the colt won, his backers would have considered it a triumph of Arcaro over matter.

As far as I have been able to learn, no bank clerk made a second unauthorized loan to bet on the Lytle horse and thus clear up an earlier defalcation—as some were reported to have done on Count Fleet and Native Dancer. No one was betting any horse "seriously."

Perhaps, because of the greater-than-usual element of doubt, the race was about as exciting as tests of Thoroughbreds get to be.

Pinetum took the lead early and after a quarter was 1½ lengths ahead of Buttevant. Porterhouse was two more lengths back; then came Correlation, Permian, Fisherman, War of Roses and High Gun.

At the crossroads, where the Widener Chute slices across the main course, Buttevant took the right fork and went back to the barn. That put Porterhouse in second place; Permian moved into third, Correlation held fourth.

Going down the backside, Fisherman moved past horses and was in the lead with a little more than half a mile to go. Correlation rushed up at the same time and for a few strides headed the Whitney representative.

Nearing the far turn, Fisherman was in front, Correlation was second, Porterhouse third and—High Gun was beginning to move.

By the time the leaders had completed the long lower arc, it was plain that the race was between Fisherman and High Gun.

Rapidly the son of *Heliopolis—Rocket Gun, by Brazado, cut down Fisherman's margin until it was but a length; then for a few seconds he ceased to gain as Woodhouse whipped frantically. Again, High Gun began to pick up ground, a few inches with each stride, and under a smooth hand ride by Eric Guerin punched his nose across the line about a yard ahead of Fisherman's.

Mrs. W. H. Hoffman, Jr.'s Limelight, the surprise of the race, was third, five lengths back of the front pair and three lengths before Greentree's Palm Tree. Correlation finished fourth, Porterhouse ninth.

Buttevant cooled out first.

Any minute now, I expected to hear somebody say that, 'way back in April, Trainer Moody Jolly though he had a pretty good one in Limelight.

High Gun was winning his second stakes in two weeks, having scored in the Peter Pan on June 5. The $89,000 purse from the richest Belmont brought his 1954 total to $136,850. In 8 starts, he shows 2 wins, 2 seconds and 3 thirds. Last year, he started 3 times and won 2 races and $7475.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott presented the August Belmont Cup to Robert Kleberg, head man of King Ranch. It was the third Belmont victory for the barn. Assault won the race in 1946 and Middleground in 1950. Max Hirsch trained all three King Ranch winners and also Vito which won the Belmont in 1928.

High Gun was bred in partnership by K. M. Little, W. P. Little and C. C. Boshamer and it must be helpful having all those people around in mating season.

The Top Flight Handicap, 15th running, fillies and mares, 3-year-olds and up, 1½ miles (June 9). The Top Flight was another of those races with no outstanding runner. Fifteen fillies and mares, ranging in age from three to six years, came out to gallop over Belmont Park's broad dark loam course for the $25,000-added event.

Canadiana and Lillal, coupled in the betting and favored at 4.25 to 1, showed the most speed, and went a half mile that way with Emardee and Gainsboro Girl tagging along in nearest attendance. Sunshine Nell was just back of the first four.

After three-quarters, Canadiana still was on the head end, with Gainsboro Girl and Lillal fighting for second, and Sunshine Nell fourth.

Canadiana suddenly tossed in the sponge and dropped back to 13th in less than an eighth of a mile. Gainsboro Girl found herself on top, but Sunshine Nell displaced her in the stretch and just lasted to stave off the closing rush of J. S. Phipps' Spinning Top. La Corredora came from well back to get third money and Mab's Choice was fourth. Arcaro rode the winner, and he didn't have to make weight as the impost was 125.

A daughter of Sun Again—Nellie Flag by American Flag, Sunshine Nell is owned by Mr. M. J. Kaplan, and trained by R. Green. Her share of the prize money was $24,750, which brought her earnings for the year to $33,165. Her '54 record stands 2 wins, a second and a third in 5 starts. Last season she won 5 of her 18 starts including the Step Lightly, Autumn Day and Barbara Frietchie Handicaps. She was second 5 times and third 3 times and earned a total of $76,732. The six-year-old mare was bred by Calumet Farm.

Monmouth Park

The Oceanport Handicap, 8th running, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs (June 12). White Skies gave away from 22 to 30 pounds to eight rivals in the Oceanport and handled all save the one with the 30-pound advantage.

Master Ace, Mrs. Robert L. Gerry's five-year-old front-runner, stuck it out this time and set a new six-furlong mark at Monmouth of 1:09 flat. White Skies, under his 136 pounds, never got within two lengths of the winner. He finished second (after running in that position most of the way) by 2½ lengths. Eaton-town was almost two lengths farther back and three in front of Candle Wood, which finished fourth.

A son of Case Ace, from the Peanuts mare, Mistress Mary, Master Ace is making a "come-back" this season. After being away from the races since May 1953, he came back this season on May 22 and won a $12,500 claiming race at Belmont. Since then he has been second twice in allowance races, and trainer G. P. Odum figured he had the gelding ready for an added-money event. He was right.

The victory, worth $13,000, gives Master Ace $17,400 for the season. He raced twice without being in the money last season. Previous to that he had performed well. Mrs. Gerry bred Master Ace.

J. Renick, brother of Samuel Renick the television star, had the mount on the winner of the Oceanport.

Monmouth Park opened on the day of the Belmont Stakes, and anyone heading for the Long Island classic was constantly confronted by signs suggesting that a fellow might have more fun at Monmouth and that he can go by boat or train. I didn't see any Belmont-bound Turf-investor switch over and go the other way, but if anybody rides the Long Island Railroad with his eyes open, he knows there's a modern horse park in North Jersey. I doubt if any pilgrims to the Mecca between Long Branch and Oceanport had their mercenary little dreams disturbed by billboard invitations to New York tracks.

Delaware Park

The Leonard Richards, 17th running 3-year-olds, 1 1/8 miles (June 12). A three-year-old on the East Coast had to make a choice on June 12: He could go to Delaware Park with a chance to win the big share of $49,775 or he could go to Belmont and hope for a miracle. Too many went to Belmont. No starter in the Richards had won a stakes, but several had been close. Diving Board had finished third in the Peter Pan; Red Hannigan had ended up second in the Jersey Stakes and third in the Louisiana Derby; Full Flight got third money in The Kent and Menemsha finished in the show spot in Hialeah's Hibiscus.

Full Flight and Diving Board were equally favored at 2.50 to 1.

Menemsha ran out into a long lead, with Red Hannigan next in line. Catapaw was third and Biloxi fourth with seven-eighths to go. When it dawned on Menemsha that this was more than a six-furlong race he retired promptly and left Red Hannigan leading the parade. Full Flight was getting under way, moving up from eighth, to sixth and then was third at the three-eighths pole. He tried to bear in, in the stretch, but after Jockey Jess Higley straightened him out, he caught Red Hannigan and went on to win by 1½ lengths. Red Hannigan was in front of Chateau. King Ranch's High Button was fourth.

Full Flight is a son of *Ambiorix, from *Mahmoud's daughter, Grey Flight. He was bred by Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable and he races for the same outfit.

The $38,690 he collected for winning the Leonard Richards brought him up to $60,365 for 1954. He has raced 16 times, won 2, been second in 4 and third in 2 races. The bay colt earned $17,450 as a juvenile in 20 starts. He had 2 wins, 5 seconds and 4 thirds.

Jim Fitzsimmons trains for Wheatley Stable.

Delaware, with no advertising along the route of the Long Island Railroad, drew 429 more people than Monmouth and $79,791 more through the mutuels windows, on the day of the Belmont Stakes.

The Polly Drummond, 17th running, 2-year-old fillies, 5 furlongs (June 9). With 21 fillies named for the Polly Drummond and no Widener Course, the Delaware management split the race in two and put up $10,000 for each division. After scratches there were ten left in the first section and nine in the second.

In Division 1, Fantine Busher raced Adored into defeat after about a quarter of a mile, then repulsed a threat from Menolene and barely lasted to hold off a fast closing Courtesy. Maybe the winner was a little lucky. Courtesy had difficulty getting running room and came like a frightened Jaguar when clear. Menolene was third and Natasha fourth.

Fantine Busher (Mr. Busher—Fantine, by Whichone) now has 2 wins and 1 third in 3 starts. The $10,150 she earned gives her a total of $14,250. Maine Chance Farm owns the filly and bred her. I. K. Mourer is the trainer of the month.

Dave Gorman rode Fantine Busher.

Sorceress, owned and bred by Mr. R. N. Webster, took the second division in 58½ seconds, ½ of a second slower than the track mark and ¼ faster than Fantine Busher's time.

Sue Pat was in front most of the way but Sorceress dogged her steps and wore her down to win by a neck. Reddy Do and Smart Devil got third and fourth money.

Sorceress is by Slide Rule, from Count Fleet's daughter, Quick Touch. She was making her sixth start and scoring her fourth win. She has been second once. As there was one entry less in her half of the Polly Drummond, her prize was $200 less—$9950. Her earnings total $18,675. W. Hartack rode.

L. Laurin trains the Webster horses.

Lincoln Fields

Miss America Stakes, 7th running, 2-year-old fillies, 5 furlongs (June 12). Bet down to 2 to 5, Charlton Clay's flashy *Nasrullah filly, Lea Lane, galloped to a 14-length win in the Miss America and equalled the five-furlong mark of 59 seconds, which has stood for 16 years. Serry finished second and Sweet Josie third.

In her only other start, Lea Lane won by eight lengths.

Mr. Clay bred the brown filly. Her dam is the Bull Lea mare, Lea Lark.

She drew down $11,900 for winning the Miss America and now has $13,720. Ken Church was aboard in both races.

J. P. Sallee trains for Mr. Clay.

Detroit Race Course

Livonia Stakes, 1st running, 3-year-olds, 6 furlongs (June 5). The Neumann-Britt entry of Beanir and Aces Wired seemed a solid bet in the Livonia but both representatives bogged down in the heavy footing.

Mrs. J. Tomlinson's Loose Rock was more at home in the deep stuff and struggled home to win by half a length over Cimmerona. Lori-Jane and Run Red Run were the other money horses.

Loose Rock, by Sun Again—Tiens, by Pennant, gathered in $8000 for his owner, which added to earlier earnings gives the chestnut colt $14,075 for the year. He has won 3, been second in 1 and third in 3 of his 10 starts.

He raced only 4 times as a two-year-old, winning 1, running third in 1 and earning $2630.

C. E. Buckley bred Loose Rock.

J. S. Jones trains, and S. Williams was in the saddle for the Livonia.

Sea Breeze Stakes, 3rd running, 3-year-old fillies, 7 furlongs (June 8). The Sea Breeze brought out seven female

Belmont Steeplechasing

Hyvania Wins Jolly Roger 'Cap Over Hurdles; Elkridge 'Chase Taken by Flaming Comet

Spectator

Belmont's final week of 'chasing featured two overnight races which were of more than passing interest. The first of these was the Jolly Roger Handicap at 2 miles over hurdles. Eleven horses were nominated for this race, including L. H. Nelles' Extra Points, but Mrs. Adams declined to accept with her much improved charge, because of the hard going, while the Lazy F. Ranch's Out Point was taken out to be run in a $15,000 turf race. Par Amour, another nominee came up with a slight filling in his leg the day before the race, which left a field of 8, and these made a good contest, with G. H. Bostwick's Hyvania running one of his better races to score by half a length over his stablemate, Mrs Ogden Phipps' 4-year-old Neji. The latter with several wins to his credit this season, carried 140 lbs., gave away weight on the scale to his older rivals and appeared to be gaining at the end. Hyvania was ridden by Kennie Field and completed the 2 miles in 3:44%, a little less than two seconds off the record.

Kept close to the pace most of the way Jockey Field lay in third place as the field raced down the far side the last time. Approaching the far turn, Eternal Son, which had made most of the pace to this point, started to drop back. Curly Joe, running coupled with Democles held the second position, but neither could withstand the move of Hyvania as the field rounded the turn. Into the stretch, Hyvania held a margin of 2 to 3 lengths, with the Troiano entry of Curly Joe and Democles in second and third position and Neji fourth. Through the stretch these four drew out from the remainder of the field, but Neji did not get to the second position until after the final hurdle, and from there to the wire was wearing down his stablemates.

Two unusual incidents marred this race. At the start, Guilford Dudley's The American was very fractious, and as an assistant starter led him toward the starting tape, The American started kicking and bucking, and just as the tape snapped Jockey J. Cotter was thrown off and suffered a back injury as the horse passed over him. Later in the running, the 4-year-old filly, Sea Term, owned by the Blue Run Farm, and a handy winner earlier in the meeting, took the next to the last hurdle well, then seemed to stumble and threw Albert Foot, her rider. A few moments later it was quite clear she had broken a leg. A study of the film patrol pictures showed she had broken her leg on landing. Jockey Foot broke his collar bone in the fall, and will be out of action for some weeks.

On Friday, the following day, Arthur White showed a masterly effort in conditioning when he sent the Brookmeade Stable's Flaming Comet to the post to lead from start to finish in The Elkridge, a two and a quarter mile 'chase. Flaming Comet was last seen under colors in the fall of 1952 when he won a steeplechase at Aqueduct. Elwood Carter had the leg up on Flaming Comet in The Elkridge, and held a daylight lead all the way, although he had to withstand a determined challenge from Tourist List in the stretch run, crossing the wire a length and a half to the good of that one, while 3% lengths further back, Semper Eadem took third money. Semper Eadem, favored in the field of six, lay closest to the pace-maker until the next to the last jump where he put in a bad one and lost some ground, but still was far enough in front of Blandystone, which took the small end of the purse some 3 lengths away. Mighty Mo finished fourth in his 1954 debut, running in the colors of Montpelier after being recently purchased from L. W. Jennings. However, Mighty Mo ran well for a few fences and was never in the hunt afterwards. The same was true of Pamela 2nd, which was making her first start at the major tracks after a winning race at Rose Tree in mid May.

Time in The Elkridge was 4:13%. This compares with the track record of 4:12% set by Errolford in The Gwathmey last year, but this time was disputed by clockers in the press box. The previous record was 4:15% set by Curtain Call in 1935, so in any event, Flaming Comet's time for the race was a good one.

Earlier in the week, Arthur White also sent a winner to the post. This was Mrs. F. Eugene Dixon's Mielaison, a home-bred 3-year-old by Platter out of Miel. In this mile and a half 3-year-old test for maidens, Montpelier's Bennet was sent off favored at 4 to 5, but wound up in the runner-up position, some four lengths behind Mielaison. It was 15 lengths away to third, Morris Dixon's Pine Shot. Mielaison, with Jockey Elwood Carter up, took the lead almost at once, ran and jumped well all the way, and turned back a strong challenge from Bennet on the far side. All in all it was an impressive race for this 3-year-old.

On Tuesday, June 8th, a field of ten answered the bugle call for a 2 mile 'chase designed for non-winners of a $1,000 over brush, and Coveted from the Lazy F. Ranch easily beat off this field to score by 15 lengths. Nearest to him at the end was Morris Dixon's Imbursed, which was well used in the early stages of the race, and then seemed to have little left in the last quarter. Five lengths away, Antagonizer finished third after displaying some unusually bad fencing. In fact Kennie Field his rider was probably lucky to stick on him during the trip. One fall in this race might have had a bearing on the result. Oneida was in the lead at the 8th fence when he stumbled and fell leaving Coveted with an undisputed lead. With a hard track all week, the time of each race has been fast, and this was no exception. Coveted hung up a 3:42% which is faster than most stake events at this distance.

A limit size field of hurdlers went post-ward on Wednesday in a mile and three quarter hurdle race under claiming con-

American-Bred Never Say Die Wins English Derby—French-Breds Score in Oaks

"Manna"

Ever since the early weeks of the season it had been on the cards that an American bred colt would win the Derby. The impressive running of Ambler II had set everybody talking and it looked as if the Woodward colours were at last due for a change of luck at Epsom. Few people, at that time, were giving much thought to R. S. Clark's Never Say Die, a bonny chestnut colt, who was resting quietly, in Joe Lawson's stables, off the Bury Road, Newmarket.

Yet it is Never Say Die, whose name will go down in the record books as the first Yankee to win the Derby since Iroquois in 1881. Few serious racing men gave him more than an outsider's chance and, indeed, they could hardly have done so without being unreasonably optimistic.

Never Say Die won but one of his six starts as a two-year-old and was rated 18 lb below the best of his age in the Free Handicap, which serves to give an official rating for the leading youngsters of the year. The colt's early races this season did nothing to suggest that he had made abnormal improvement, for he was beaten twice during the first three weeks of it.

The first real sign of progress that Never Say Die gave was in the Newmarket Stakes, over a longer distance than he had previously tackled. This ten furlong race is regarded as one of the most important Derby trials and was won last year by Pinza before he went on to triumph at Epsom.

Pinza's success in the Newmarket Stakes had been a runaway one, but this year there was a most exciting finish. Seven horses were battling for the lead a furlong and a half out. Never Say Die was one of them, but he was balked in the closing stages and was narrowly beaten into third place by Elopement. Other Epsom candidates in that field were L'Avengro, Narrator and Valerullah as well as Arabian Night, who started favourite but ran poorly.

Reports that Never Say Die might not be saddled for the Derby caused his price to drift out to 200/1, but, after a satisfactory gallop at home, it was decided to let him take his chance.

Two days after the Newmarket Stakes, the Derby Trial Stakes at Lingfield Park was run. The field included the hitherto unbeaten Ambler II, F. W. Dennis' Rowston Manor, who had been one of 1953's top two-year-olds, and the Queen's colt Landau.

I devoted a good deal of space to Ambler II in my previous article. His record before he ran at Lingfield Park was two races, two impressive wins and the position of Derby favourite. He was an even-money chance for the Trial Stakes with Rowston Manor and Landau the only other two runners seriously backed.

The race was run over the full Derby distance on a track which had been made sloppy by persistent rain. Rowston Manor was soon in front and led into the straight from Landau. Just when we were expecting Ambler II to race into a challenging position he came under pressure and it soon became clear that he would not win. As the race progressed he dropped further and further back and eventually finished a dozen lengths behind the winner, Rowston Manor, who stayed on gamely to beat Landau by a length.

Neither Darius nor Ferriol, first and second in the Two Thousand Guineas, ran again before Epsom and the other Derby Trials told little. Infatuation, who had won in good style over ten furlongs at Sandown Park, unfortunately suffered a training set back and had to be scratched. Blue Sail, Johnny Longden's mount, had shown only moderate form, and it was surprising that he found many backers at 100/6 for the big race.

A late decision was made to scratch Ambler II. The colt's Lingfield Park running had been a complete puzzle to his trainer Captain Boyd-Rochford and he gave no signs of returning to form in his subsequent home gallops, being beaten by horses he could have "picked up and carried" a few weeks earlier.

The stable therefore relied on Walter Jeffords' Blue Prince II, who had won a good handicap at Kempton Park in mid-May. After his success that day it was announced that he would miss the Derby, but plans were changed following the Ambler II debacle.

Twenty-two runners, the smallest Derby field for seven years, went to the post.

IRELAND

Move to Auction Tulyar

Tulyar wonder horse bred by the Aga Khan and sold to the Irish National stud for a record figure is in the news once again. Several of the Labor members in the new Republic of Ireland Parliament are to attempt to have legislation passed so that the stallion will be sold "by auction and to the highest bidder." Labor circles say that the horse is a luxury the country cannot afford and point to the high figure yearly for maintenance, insurance. They also maintain that breeders should foot the bill in every respect over bloodstock transactions. There are many obstacles to a Tulyar resale and I believe the champion of 1952 will remain at the National stud.

To Race In France

Paddy Prendergast, leading Irish trainer whose license to run horses in England has not been restored by the Jockey Club to date, is to try for some of the big plums on the French turf this year, including the Prix de Arenberg and the Prix De L'Arc Triomphe. His horses, Gold Cup and Windy City placed second in the former juvenile event in past years.

Never Say Die

Never Say Die's triumph in the Epsom Derby, June 2, was the climax to a wonderful week for Curragh trainer and breeder, Mick Collins. It began on the previous Thursday when Collins-trained horses won three of the six races. What made this pleasurable for Mick was that all of these were sired by the two stallions he has at his Maddenstown stud; two by Solonaway and one by The Cobbler. . . . Then another Solonaway two-year-old, Summer Solstice won the Catterham Stakes.

Last-but best came when Never Say Die won for his biggest American patron, Mr. Robert Sterling Clark of Virginia. Down Curragh way, they refer to Mr. Clark as "the Sewing Machine King" and always with pleasure, for he is very popular with the locals. Mr. Clark used to come over to Ireland regularly and when here he invariably stayed with Mick Collins at his training quarters, Conyngham Lodge. They say Mr. Clark loves the Curragh and something he always calls for when visiting is—Irish Mutton! "It's the best in the world" Mr. Clark is reputed to have said.

Well, the much publicised Blue Sail ridden by Johnny Longden, "blew up" in the final stages of the English Derby. He did run well, however, for about a mile and could win good races in the states at this distance. He is not an ungenerous horse but is of a nervous disposition and requires careful handling.

Singing Grass, (War Admiral) the dam of the 1954 Derby winner, Never Say Die, was put to Nasrullah when the famed McGrath stallion was standing in Ireland. Her future champion was, of course, born in America. In 1950, Singing Grass produced her first foal, a filly by Combat named Bandbox, which won a tiny race at Ballinrobe track, Ireland, in 1953.

VIRGINIA

Election Held

The members of the Virginia Horsemen's Association at the annual meeting of that organization recently elected M. Tyson Gilpin to the Presidency for the coming year. Gilpin whose father, the late Kenneth N. Gilpin was one of the founders of the Association and its first president, has been a director for the past seven years.

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane whose Thoroughbred Breeding establishment, Brookmeade Farm, is at Upperville was elected to the vice presidency. Mrs. Sloane whose racing stable campaigns on all of the country's larger tracks has long been active in the Association and for the past two years fillies bred by her have won the Association's high weight two year old filly awards with Tritium in 1952 and O'Alison in 1953.

Which Mate Destroyed

The breeders in the Genesee Valley lost one of their better sires with the death of Which Mate late last month. It was necessary to destroy the chestnut son of *Uncle George by Hackler—Classmate II by Shot Gun because of his age.

Which Mate had sired many a wonderful show horse—Lanikia, The Angel and Bright Mate are some of his get. The big handsome chestnut horse had been at stud at "the Homestead" in Genesee, New York for many years and was very popular among hunter breeders as his colts were usually big and fast.

"The Homestead" has an excellent replacement with the addition of Grey Flares by Flares.

Top Traffic

Sam E. Wilson, Jr.'s home-bred Top Traffic, recent winner of a division of the Joliet Stakes at Lincoln Fields, is the first stakes victor sired by R. W. McIlvain's Billings, who stands at Leslie Comb II's Spendthrift Farm, Lexington.

Billings was generally regarded as the second best three-year-old of Citation's year. Much of his $124,150 was accumulated through victories in the Peabody Memorial, Hawthorne Speed, Hawthorne Autumn and Illinois Owner's Handicaps, and the Hawthorne Gold Cup.

Top Traffic's dam, Half Shot, has a suckling filly by *The Sultan at B. M. Browning's Brownwood Farm, Nicholasville, where Mr. Wilson boards his mares. Half Shot, half sister, by Unbreakable, to the stakes captors Lefty Jim and Lefty Gunner, has been bred to Provocative.

Aerolite's First

When D. R. Cassell, Agent for Mrs. Mary H. Hunter, paid $23,000 for Aerolite at the Hal Price Headley Dispersal last fall, the winner of a division of the 1952 Lafayette Stakes went right back to Mr. Headley's Beaumont Farm, Lexington, as a boarder. At the time, the daughter of Revoked—Bolidé, by Menow, was carrying her first foal as a result of a mating with *Rico Monte, then standing at Beaumont. The foal, delivered recently at Beaumont, turned out to be a bay colt.

A Six Days' Racing Log

Karl Koontz

Thus far in the first 6 racing days of June, Virginians have written their names in John Hancock fashion in racing's record books. What had started off in the soft murmur of a meadow stream is now becoming an oceanic roar.

On the first day of the month named in honor of the Roman's Junius, the 2nd event on the afternoon's card at Belmont (a claiming affair for 2-year-olds down the Widener straightaway), a dark bay gelding by the name of Papa Cat moved to the front nearing the furlong pole and drew clear of his opposition, winning by $1\frac{3}{4}$ lengths with Jockey H. (Dark Star) Moreno in the saddle. Papa Cat is a son of Alquest (Questionnaire's son which makes his headquarters at Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hardin's Newstead Farm, Upperville, Virginia), and was bred by D. K. Kerr, Sr., who is well-known in the Virginia countryside.

the 2nd division of the Clifton Manor Purse, went to Foxcatcher Farm's Fanford. The brown daughter of Fairy Manhurst (a son of the great Man o'War which holds court at William duPont, Jr.'s Walnut Hall Farm, at Boyce, Va.), snapped up the lead when the gates sprang open, turned back a strong challenge from Best Contract, and went on to score, ridden out by 3 lengths.

Up at Rockingham Park, Platterette, a 7-year-old chestnut mare bred by Mrs. J. L. B. Bentley of Orlean, Virginia, won a 6 furlongs claiming event by a half-length. Jockey DeSpirito got his mount off well, permitted her to drop back until 3 furlongs had gone by, then sent her on to win.

Rokeby Stable, the Virginia establishment of Paul Mellon at Upperville, Va. started off June 2nd at Delaware Park for the Virginians by furnishing the polis, now retired from stud duties at Montpelier, Montpelier Station, Va., and for his breeder Mrs. Marion duPont Scott. Semper Eadem sports the scarlet and white silks of Isador Bieber.

In the race immediately following the steeplechase, Alquest had a winning representative in Idontknow, a chestnut gelding out of Fly Chick. The chestnut gelding came from off the pace in the 7 furlongs claiming event to win by 3 lengths. Fly Chick was bred by Mrs. George L. Harrison, of Upperville, Va. and is by the Brookmeade horse Psychic Bid.

Journeying back up to Rockingham again for the 8th race, a claiming event for non-winners of two since May 15, another Virginia stallion was represented when Barney's Joy won by a length after cutting out all the pace in the $1\frac{1}{8}$ miles spin.

Barney's Joy is a 4-year-old bay son of Bolingbroke, the Equipoise stallion which Delmar Twyman is managing at Mt. Athos, Montpelier Station, Va.

The following day at the Salem, New Hampshire race course, one of the most aptly named horses racing Plastered, won the opening event. The 6-year-old brown gelding a son of the ex-Virginia stood stallion Pass Out and the St. James Daniel G. Van Clief's chestnut colt by Menow—Peggy Byrne, by Stimulus—champion of the colt division and grand champion of the show at the Virginia Horsemen's Assn. yearling show.

Scarcely had the dust from this victory settled before Mrs. Marion duPont Scott sent out the home-bred Altus to win The *Titien II purse for allowance hurdlers. The chestnut son of Air Hero (which is looked after by Dr. J. P. Jones at Ingles Farm, Charlottesville, Va.), had to withstand a determined bid from the outlander Democles, but he held him to a head at the wire.

The fifth race on the day's program brought out 6 fillies to contest a purse with the tongue twisting name of The Semiramis, which Virginian T. F. White's Miss Weesie won by 2 lengths after chasing Biddy Jane for about a half-mile. The winner is a 4-year-old daughter of Jeep, the *Mahmoud stallion which enjoyed tremendous popularity at Sandy Baldwin's Dundridge, Farm White Post, Va., prior to the stallion's untimely death. Mrs. E. B. Lee, also of White Post bred Miss Weesie from the Mud mare Miss Mud, which in turn was bred by James Lindsey of Boyce, Va.

Virginia victories weren't limited to Belmont Park on the 1st Down at Delaware Park on that day, the 2nd race, winner of the Queen Ann Purse. Their representative was the 2-year-old Cup Man, a bay son of the French stallion *Djeddah, which scored by three parts of a length in this maiden 2-year-old dash with something in reserve. More should be heard from this one later.

The Old Dominion scored again in the afternoon in the first of the Monchanin Handicaps (a series of distance races set up for claimers by the Delaware Management), when Adopt won. This North Cliff Farm (Rixeyville, Va.)—bred, racing in the silks of Winlochan Stable, was awarded the $1\frac{1}{8}$ miles event after the winner had been disqualified for lugging in. The disqualified winner was the bay horse, Irritate, a son of Wait A Bit (which gained considerable fame as a sire of hunters and racers while standing at Harold Polk's Ravens Worth Farm, Annandale, Va.). Irritate is out of the mare Tantalize, a daughter of Tintagel, which for a time occupied a stall in the Ellerslie Stud barn at Charlottesville, Va.

Up at Belmont, Semper Eadem won the Optional Claiming Purse over brush, thereby scoring one for his sire Anna-mare Winecup, was kept just off the pace setter and ran down the top one in the stretch to win by a length in a claiming affair of 6 furlongs duration.

Later in the day at the same oval, Abstract, a product of Walter P. Chrysler's onetime North Wales Stud, Warrenton, Va., romped to an easy $2\frac{1}{2}$ lengths victory. The 8-year-old bay never far from the pace, moved to the top under a stout hold and drew away in the stretch in the $1\frac{1}{8}$ miles foray.

Down at Belmont on the same afternoon, the management presented 25 maiden 2-year-olds in a $4\frac{1}{2}$ furlongs claiming event down the Widener chute. Marston Moor was capable of working up the most speed of the group and after taking the lead nearing the furlong marker, continued on to score by a half after repulsing a long drive from Productive. The bay gelding is a son of Hampden (which stands at Walnut Hall, Boyce, Va.) and is out of the Rosemont mare, El Roma, which was bred by Mr. duPont. Rosemont, also occupies a stall in the Walnut Hall stud barn at Boyce.

Strictly Virginia

On June 4th Virginians didn't break into print at Belmont until the 8th race, designed for claiming 3-year-olds going 1 1/8 miles. The winner was a bay gelding called Long Tom, which steadily worked his way forward via the overland route and once straightened away in the stretch came on to win by a length and a half. Long Tom was bred by Sidney Culver at his White Post Farm, and is by *Rustom Sirdar—Last Deal, by *Ksar. Both *Rustom Sirdar and *Ksar enjoyed sojourns in the stallion barn at Abe Hewitt's Montana Hall, near White Post.

The aforementioned stallion Wait A Bit (which now stands at Jack Ward's Ward Acres Farm, New Rochelle, New York) had Seebit on the track at Delaware Park to contest the Battler Purse at 6 furlongs. This the 7-year-old bay gelding did with authority, winning by 2 1/2 lengths with speed in reserve. The winner was bred and foaled at William Ziegler, Jr.'s Burrland Farm, Middleburg, Va. Wait A Bit also had another winner the same afternoon when his Buzz A Bit, (a 2-year younger brother to Seebit), won a 1 1/8 miles claiming jaunt at "The Rock" by a neck.

The Gallorette Purse, 1 1/8 miles, on June 5th at Delaware Park, was a triumph for the Irish stallion *Orestes III, which stands at the Gilpin's Kentmere Farm, Boyce, Va. His light chestnut daughter, June Fete was kept within striking distance of the leaders by Jockey Willie Lester, saved ground while making her bid, snared command near the 8th pole and drew away to win handily by 3 lengths. This victory was popular with some of the fans—a $2.00 ticket being redeemable for $33.60.

The Kent Stakes, the feature of the afternoon at the Stanton, Delaware course was a surprise victory for William duPont, Jr.'s Chevation. This handsome chestnut gelding, out of the duPont home-bred top race mare Fairy Chant, trailed in the early running, moved up strongly rounding the bend into the home lane and took command inside the 8th marker, to win by 2 lengths, furnishing the patrons with another healthy payoff, $23.80 for $2.00.

On the 5th of the month up north in New Hampshire, Lovely Dice, a filly bred by the well-known veterinarian Dr. R. L. Humphrey, Mountsville, Va., won the featured Northwood Purse, by 3 lengths with something in reserve. This bay filly is a daughter of Lovely Night (which held court until 3 seasons ago at Mrs. Marie A. Moore's High Hope Farm, The Plains, Va.), and is out of Geraldine, by Gerald, which was bred by R. C. Winmill of Warrenton, Va. Gerald, sire of Geraldice (which incidentally is now owned by TV-er Arthur Godfrey, Beacon Hill, Peaonian Springs, Va.) was stood by Dr. Humphrey at Mountsville until that horse's death on August 21, 1947.

On the 6th racing day of June, Virginia scored its biggest victory, when Belluno handily won the featured, The Gold Heels Purse at 6 furlongs, at Belmont Park. The Virginia-bred 4 year-old bay gelding is a son of a stallion which is rapidly becoming one of the most successful in the Old Dominion, Bossuet (which holds court along with Bryan G. owner C. T. Chenery's The Meadow, Doswell, Va.) out of the mare with the nearly unpronounceable name of Cat-tachipitico, by Sunador (which Mrs. Fay Ingalls stands at her Hobby Horse Farm, Hot Springs, Va.).

With Jockey Eddie Arcaro in the irons, the Morning Telegraph reports, "Belluno unhurried when outrun early, slipped through along the inner rail to replace Master Ace inside the stretch and steadily drew clear under a mild hand ride." In the beaten Gold Heels field were such top-notchers as First Glance, Jamie K., Scent and Master Ace.

In the Arcady Purse at Belmont, 2 races previous to Belluno's triumph, Alquest had another 2-year-old winner in Hartsville, which was a victor by an easy 3 1/2 lengths. In the 5 furlongs dash down the Widener chute, the dark bay colt went right to the front and won by as much margin as his rider, H. Moreno wished. Hartsville was also bred by D. K. Kerr, Sr., whom we mentioned previously.

Picot, a filly which Joe Schneider of Middleburg, Va. has been following closely, quite naturally, as he owns her sire Pictor, marked up her 2nd win on the same afternoon down at Delaware Park. The fleet bay miss, moved between horses entering the stretch and won with speed to spare by 3 1/2 lengths in a field of top claiming 2-year-olds. Picot won her first victory at Belmont Park down the Widener chute.

Of necessity this is only a brief review of the 6 days racing in June at 3 of the major tracks, Belmont—Delaware—Rockingham. If time were devoted many more Virginians which figured in the Thoroughbred racing sport would be turned up, but space limits our exploring them. One thing is evident from this short check, Virginia, long noted for its hunting and hunters, is now becoming a big factor in the Thoroughbred breeding industry.

FARM FOR LEASE

Pastures Made Excellent By Trace Minerals In Oyster Shell Lime

Wilbur Ross Hubbard

At the very pleasant luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ewing for the Active Masters of Foxhounds a discussion arose regarding pastures. One of the group said he thought we should put trace minerals on our pastures so that horses and cattle could get them in nature's way through grass and hay.

Several years ago Eugene Roberts won the Green Pastures Award for the State of Maryland. When asked what kind of lime he used on his pastures, he said that for ten years he had used nothing but oyster shell lime because he figured that oysters get something from the sea which could not be obtained otherwise.

Representatives of the company which made the oyster shell lime he had been using stated that for many years customers had been reporting that their lime, used on a great variety of crops, had given distinctly better results than other forms of lime with similar calcium content. No scientific explanation of this superiority was discovered until the development of interest in trace minerals and their importance to the growth of crops and animals. A complete analysis of oyster shell lime proved that it contains numerous trace minerals which are so essential to healthy growth and reproduction of both humans and animals. This therefore explains, in part at least, why farmers have gotten such excellent results with it.

Oysters get these trace minerals and other essential elements out of the sea. Knowing that trace minerals are essential to the health and growth of animals, many feed mixers are now adding them to their products. A better way to supply them, however, is to add the minerals to the soil and let nature put them in the crops. Live stock thus get them in the grass hay and home grown grain on which they feed.

The amount of this lime available is, of course, small in comparison with other limes. The supply has been further limited in recent years by the decrease of oysters in Chesapeake Bay.

Daniel C. Sands, Esq.

Master of The Middleburg Hunt — and One of America's Noted Fox Hunters

Thomas Atkinson

(Note: When asked if I would write an article about Mr. Sands and his long and successful career as the M. F. H. of the Middleburg Hunt, I immediately said that I was incapable of doing it. To which Mr. A. Mackay-Smith, who had asked me to do it, said that they didn't want to publish an article written by a person who had not hunted with Mr. Sands in the "old days," and who was not familiar with what took place in those times.

I told Mr. Mackay-Smith that Mrs. Atkinson, who was one of the founders of the Middleburg Hunt, knew more about everything that took place during the early days of the Hunt than anyone else, and that I would talk it over with her. In view of our talk, and with her valuable assistance I submit the following. T. A.)

Daniel C. Sands came from Westchester County, New York, to Virginia and bought Benton Farm in 1907. It was shortly after that that he married Mrs. Sands, the former Miss Edith Kennedy. He had always been a lover of horses and dogs, particularly as a breeder and courser of greyhounds, but his experience had been mostly with driving horses. He was an excellent whip.

I must digress a moment and say a few things about the two neighboring hunts, as this information all ties in with Mr. Sands' hunting experience and Master-ships.

The late Mr. Richard H. Dulany of "Grafton," Fauquier County, Virginia, as a boy of sixteen had a few hounds which he kept at his home, "Welbourne," and hunted whenever the spirit moved him. He came of age (21) in 1876, continued to keep hounds, and hunted them nearly up to the time of his death in 1914. This pack, which was not recognized until 1904, was usually spoken of as Mr. Dulany's hounds, but was also called the Piedmont Hounds. In 1907 his hounds had hydrophobia and were destroyed. The Orange County hounds hunted the Piedmont country that winter, Mr. Dulany and Mr. Townsend being Joint Masters. Mr. Sands became Master of the Piedmont in 1909 continuing in office until 1915.

Shortly after the Orange County Hounds came to The Plains, Virginia, (1903) Mr. Dulany, who had more country than he needed, conceded, on request by Mr. E. H. Harriman, a large territory which is today the Orange County Hunt Country.

The Orange County had two packs of hounds; one pack was kept at The Hill, Middleburg, then owned by the late good sportsman, Mr. Samuel Fred. In 1906 Mr. Fred was made Co-Master with Mr. John R. Townsend, M. F. H. of the Orange County, and this pack was called the Middleburg Hounds.

In 1912 the Orange County Hunt withdrew their pack from Middleburg. Mrs. Atkinson, at that time Miss Neville Lemmon, and a niece of Mr. Richard H. Dulany, had enjoyed some hunting with her uncle and had hunted regularly during the English-American Hound Match in 1905. Realizing that there would be no hunting near Middleburg, she decided to try to start a hunt. With the valuable assistance of the late Mr. Roger N. Williams, of Upperville; Mr. Sands, who had hunted a season or two with the Middleburg pack of the Orange County Hunt; and with the help of the late great sportsman, Mr. L. C. Leith, the four proceeded to get a few hounds together. They were kenneled in a box stall at Mr. Leith's barn, near the entrance of the Middleburg Race Course.

Mr. Sands was prevailed upon to take the Mastership and hunted both the Piedmont and Middleburg countries.

The four "starters" with very little money did their best to interest others, and to make the hunting a success. There were no panels in those days with the exception of a few saplings nailed to trees. Their average field consisted of about six people. Among the enthusiastic followers were Freddy McElhone, Bolling Haxall, Miss Neville Lemmon, G. Basil Hall, Miss Charlotte Noland, Jim Skinner, and Barry Hall. Later Arthur White, Col. and Mrs. Bill Clifford, Walter Goodwin, Samuel Fred, Miss Nannie Fred, Rogers Fred, Bill Hulbert, Mildred Greble, Billy Hitt, Mrs. Hitt, Miss Jessica Greene, the Harry Whitfields, and the Harry W. Frosts joined them.

From all accounts there were many vicissitudes, and many hard falls, but it was all great fun. The hounds, I am told, were a trifle wild, to say the least, and it was just too bad if one was late at a meet, for hounds on being uncoupled went away quickly.

Mr. Sands worked hard over the hounds, and the hunting in general, and gave everyone a good time. He loved to see people in the field, and always tried to give them the best possible sport.

When he first started to hunt, with no previous experience, he rode a driving horse. Naturally he had many falls, but they never daunted his keenness to hunt. The first really good hunter he owned was a horse named Sligo. This good horse carried him well for a number of years. As the years rolled by he began to school and make his own hunters, and those he made were very good indeed. Among them were Johnny, Dynamite, Scout, and although he didn't make Peter The Devil, he hunted him successfully for years. As his name signifies, Peter was a handful and not everybody's horse. He was a very bold, big jumping horse, but very temperamental. It was indeed a tribute to Mr. Sands' horsemanship that he got on so well with Peter.

Rather early in his career, and when Louie Leith was hunting hounds, they got away fast on a line in big woods. Mr. Sands promptly lost Louie, and the field, with the exception of one member. He struck out on a straight line to catch hounds. His follower was close behind him and said that no one could have gone straighter, harder, or with more disregard for the obstacles that had to be negotiated. He caught hounds, and they stayed with them during a tremendous run until they denned. He was beside himself with glee that he was at the den some little time ahead of Mr. Leith. No one could possibly have had a better day than he did then.

Another day a lady in the field was exceedingly keen and thrusted away at every fence. Mr. Sands became a bit annoyed, and at the first opportunity rode up to her and offered her his horn. The perfect squelch!

In 1911 Mr. Joseph B. Thomas of New York moved to Virginia and in 1916 was elected Master of the Piedmont in place of Mr. Sands who remained as Master of the Middleburg Hunt. During the two seasons of 1919-1921 he was not an M. F. H. Those were the two seasons when the Piedmont and Middleburg combined, calling the organization the Piedmont-Middleburg Hunt, Inc. Dr. A. C. Randolph was elected the Master of the combined hunts.

In 1921 the Piedmont withdrew to their own territory and Mr. Sands again became the M. F. H. of the Middleburg Hunt. This office he maintained with great success up to the date of his recent resignation, namely May 4, 1954.

Everything he did was done in a quiet, modest way, and for many years he shouldered the bulk of the expenses of the hunt. The subscriptions in those days were from $25 to $50 for the season, and there was no capping for visitors.

During those early years of good sport, as previously stated, Louie Leith was the Huntsman. He was succeeded by Arthur Kirby, who served from 1918-1921, when he left for Detroit, and that good Huntsman, Robert Maddox took over.

Mr. Sands was always endeavoring to improve his hounds, not only in their hunting, manners, etc., but in developing a really well balanced and good looking a really well balanced and good looking

Water Color Painted by The Late Frank Voss at the Age of 23

Our cover picture is a water color painted in 1905 by the late Frank Voss who was then 23 years old. It was done from a photograph and represents the artist's father, William Voss on a favorite hunter "Wizard". Mr. Voss was one of the founders of the Rockaway Hunt on Long Island and was Treasurer from 1878 to 1884. Edward S. Voss, Master of the Elkridge-Harford Hunt and a brother of the artist writes: "I remember this horse when he was retired to a farm in Hewlett, Long Island at the age of 17. He was a big rangy Thoroughbred about 16.2 hands and was bought in Maryland for my father by my uncle Robert North Elder. The latter's sons, R. N. Elder, Jr. and George Elder, rode the winners of the Maryland Hunt Cup in 1895 and 1897."

We are indebted to Mr. Voss, not only for the photograph of the picture, but also for the following account of a run with the Rockaway which appeared in the New York World of September 5, 1880:

Fox Hunting On Long Island

First Meet Yesterday of the Rockaway Hunt for the the Fall of 1880.

The meet was held at the kennels near Lawrence Station yesterday afternoon. Punctually at 5 o'clock Mr. J. D. Cheever, the Master appeared, followed by nine couples of hounds. It is noticeable that the hounds of this hunt, instead of being imported from England, were the well-known black-and-tan strain of Virginia and Maryland. These dogs differ from the English ones in that they are larger, faster and give more tongue on the scent.

The crowd of carriages and their occupants scattered along the sloping hillside made a pretty sight, but this did not last long, for in a few moments the hounds proceeded to the covert, where a find was soon made. They then struck a line of country to the westward, followed by the riders, among whom were Mr. Belmont Purdy, Master Meadow Brook Hunt; Mr. August Belmont, Jr., Miss Rogers of Washington; Mr. Alexander H. Stevens, Mr. Louis Neilson, Mr. Henry Munn, of the Essex County Hunt; Mrs. Belmont Purdy, Mr. William Voss, Miss Dickerson, Mr. Edward Spencer and many others who did not follow the hunt as closely.

The hounds continued westward over a fair hunting country for three miles, and afforded an occasional view to those who followed in their carriages. At this point they made a sharp turn to the south, crossing the turnpike near Woodsburg Pavilion, where most of the Field were well up to the hounds. Here it could be seen that the fences were in better condition, being much higher and stronger. After keeping up a rapid pace for two miles more a short view-chase ensued, when the hounds soon overtook and killed the fox. The death occurred in the field back of Woodsburg Pavilion, in full view of the large party of spectators who had driven up from the start in their carriages. The run was one of a little over seven miles and occupied about forty-five minutes. After the brush had been awarded to Mrs. Belmont Purdy, the mask to Miss Rogers and the pads to Mr. August Belmont, Jr., Mr. Henry Munn, Mr. Belmont Purdy and Mr. Spencer, the party adjourned to Woodsburg Pavilion, where they partook of the genial hospitality of Mr. J. D.

Cheever, the Master of the fox hounds.

The next meet takes place Saturday afternoon, September 11, at Woodsburg.

The Red Fox

Richard J. Kirkpatrick

For many generations, Fauquier and Loudoun Counties have been famous far and wide for the sport of fox hunting. A breed of strong, native red fox, extensive grasslands contained in many grazing farms and stone, rail and panelled fences all contributed to the sport and earned this section of Virginia the title "the Leicestershire of America."

Many devotees of the sport came from afar and settled in Fauquier and Loudoun; land values advanced; the breeding and selling of hunters flourished; stud farms came into being because many breeders combined riding to hounds with the raising of race horses. The red fox was protected by law from trapping and shooting as a means of preserving the sport.

Recently there has been an increase in the grey fox numbers. This is bad for the sport, as it is the grey's habit when jumped by a pack of hounds to run in small circles, usually in woodlands, thereby spoiling the chance for a gallop across open country.

The current epidemic of rabies has caused many unthinking persons to shoot perfectly healthy red foxes. Last week we were informed that a red vixen with a litter of cubs underground was shot as she approached the den with a rabbit.

Admittedly it seems an odd time of year to be writing about foxes, but the success of the next fox hunting season depends on the cub crop raised this spring. Vixens killed now will mean loss of the entire litter of cubs as they are not old enough to forage for themselves.

Therefore, it behooves all of us, fox hunters and land owners alike, to preserve the red fox, just as much as we should conserve other of the country's priceless assets.

ing pack. I think it is safe to say that while Maddox was Huntsman Mr. Sands was most successful in developing a great pack of hounds. Time after time individual hounds and the pack won first prizes at the hound shows. The present Huntsman, Charlie George, is doing well with the hounds, too.

Mr. Sands was the leading spirit in organizing the American Foxhound Club in 1912. Mr. William DuPont was President, Mr. Walter Jeffords, Vice-President, and Mr. D. C. Sands, Secretary-Treasurer.

It has been my pleasure to have had many a good run with Mr. Sands, and when hounds went away he was a hard man to stay with. He would ride at any kind of place, whether upstanding or dirty.

One can certainly say that Mr. Sands has done more for fox hunting and sport than anyone in the country around Middleburg. He was always intensely interested in farming and stock raising. At one time he was the proud breeder and owner of a Guernsey cow which was one of those chosen to be shown in the World's Fair in New York. He bred a great many horses, and one of them, Flying Weather, by "Happy Argo—Port Weather, won over $100,000 in purses. There are not so many breeders who can claim such an achievement. Everyone knows he has been an outstanding and fine public spirited citizen.

It seems very much in order to mention the late Mrs. Sands. She was not a hunting woman, but was keen on hunting and horses. She was a great source of strength to Mr. Sands in the operation of the hunt.

The hospitality of "Benton" was outstanding. For a number of years Sunday afternoon was open house for everyone, especially for those keen on hunting, and a dozen or more were always there. And what fun we all had, and what suppers were spread on that gracious and bountiful table!

It is hoped that the readers of this will not be too bored by its length, but it is a hard story to write in a few words. There is a great deal more that could be told.

Here's to Mr. Sands!

Glen Head

The Glen Head Horse Show for juniors proved to be a most successful one for Miss Sandy Rice and her pony, Colleen og. The grey mare, who was hunted by her 9-year-old owner all season has proved to be equally at home in the show ring. Although, this was only her fourth show, she placed in every class, winning two of them and the championship. Strangely enough, for Long Island does not have many ponies showing, another pony was reserve. This time, it was Miss Fiona Field's Penny, which had been reserve pony champion at the 1953 National.

The Whys of Showing

Elizabeth Ober

There are aids, tips and short cuts to show technique and your rating will improve as you acquire them. You should never be satisfied to turn in a good performance but aim to turn in an outstanding one. The thing to keep in mind is that a poor rider can ruin the looks and action of a good pony or horse while a first class rider can make even a mediocre one appear to be good. A well-schooled pony or horse will only show to advantage when properly ridden. His rider should rate him at an even pace around the entire ring so as to give rhythm and finish to the performance. He should see to it his mount is keeping his place, not cutting corners, leading with the correct leg and without fuss. When he finds himself in a bunch and his pony or horse covered up, he should pass the other riders on the inside of the ring or cut across it to a vacant place. He should do it quickly so as not to cover up his competitors or throw their ponies or horses off their stride. A rider should think and act quickly and never allow his performance to be poky. He should respond quickly to the commands of the ring master and wear a happy expression without appearing to show off. He should never make work of his riding but make it look as if it comes easy to him.

INSIDE GLIMPSES AT BUFFALO

The Canadian entry were jolted at the customs office when it was made known that there was a sizable increase on the duty rates for horses and equipment. Young Doug Cudney had to fork over a $425 bond to enter his father's string of six hunters and jumpers. Enough to make a guy stay home—The chant of the crowd "You're six feet tall tonight Adolph" was directed at Adolph Mogavero riding Balkos Edge the night of the first preliminary of the $1,000 knock-down-and-out stake, the horses were jumping off at 5'6". . . . Balko's Edge, incidentally, is a former racehorse and just to make it a happy combination, Adolph is a former jockey. . . . The show came at a bad time for Miss Claire Lang Miller. Studies kept her at school in Conn., but Jim Forman took her part very well. . . . Timber's Last is starting out the show season with a bang as he was judged green hunter champion at the Syracuse P. H. A. just prior to his win in the same division at Buffalo. . . . It was nice to have Walter Arenz retire the beautiful Grupp trophy with Sir Winston. Miss Elizabeth Ginther has done a consistently good job riding the Arenz horses. —M. K.

HORSE SHOWS

Devon

Has Devon broken her jinx? Six day show and not one drop of rain, it was the first time in forty years that they have had such perfect weather conditions.

The show opened with children's day and the three divisions had fifteen to thirty entries in every class. Competipona with 37¼ topped Miss Gardner's 40¾.

Twenty-eight classes running from 8:30 a. m. straight through to 7:30 p. m. made a long hard day for the youngster and the general opinion was either less classes or more time. Preferably more time.

Monday evening started with a knock-down-and-out class. Nine of the twenty horses going clean—the first jump-off decided 3rd and 4th but Pat Dixon on Injun Joe and Cappy Winkelman on Tarboy had to go again, Injun Joe taking six fences to Tarboy's two. Miss Lila M. Phillips' Dash For Cash won the in and out Devon Stake on the second jump-off. This horse, one of Miss Phillips' race horses, was on the Garden State Track last year. Royal Knight, owned by Volco Stables and ridden by Bert Nemethy won the Brian Boru Challenge trophy. Having to go three good trips to eliminate his competition it is understandable why Bert almost left the ring before Mrs. Clarence Lewis could present him with the trophy. Bert also piloted Volco's Matador to top honors for the Eastern Area U. S. E. T. Challenge. This horse, pulled him back into the fence and lost her stirrup and fell. She suffered a cerebral concussion. She returned to the show after a short hospital sojourn but was advised not to ride.

Mike Mullen took the Edward T. Stotesbury Memorial Trophy by his champion lady's hunter win. This trophy, in competition since 1940, has as yet to have a repeat winner. Mrs. Nelson Slater, Jr. riding Mike Mullen went on to take the working hunter championship.

Maule Farms' Auction with Miss Betty Bosley aboard and Mrs. E. M. Perry on her Jazz Session went into the ring twice for championship preliminaries, green hunter and young hunter. In both cases Auction, according to the judges, out-hacked Jazz Session.

Saturday morning saw well filled breeding classes. There were classes sponsored by the Pa. Horse Breeder's Assn. as well as the regular breeding classes. Most entries were shown in both classes and it is most difficult to understand why the judges pinned a horse out of the ribbons in one instance and in the next pinned him 3rd over the horse

Maule Farms' Auction, Miss Betty Bosley up, scored a double victory at the Devon Horse Show, winning the young hunter and the green hunter championship.

Owner Mrs. H. Nelson Slater, Jr. rode Mike Mullen to the championship in the lady's and working hunter divisions to take home two tri-colors.

tion for the three championships was close and up to the last class nobody could foretell who was going to carry off the tri-colors.

Pennsylvania and Maryland shared honors as Parnell Gore and Harry Spencer, at Devon for the first time, both from Maryland took the under 13.0. Miss Cristy West and George John Wanner, Jr. of Pennsylvania took over 13.0. The junior was divided between Miss Sue Metz riding for Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Biddle, Jr. of Pennsylvania and Sydney Gadd on his own Sailor's Glory from Maryland.

Ten-year-old Parnell Gore won the heart of the spectators riding in his uniform of the Mt. Washington Military School. Miss Betsy Bole on her Diana was pinned 1st in the hunter stake to win the Charles F. Diesinger trophy.

The best child rider challenge trophy was awarded to Miss Martha Sterbak. This class is judged throughout the show by a special arm band number.

The F. E. I. Modified Olympic Event for Horses, saw nine of the ten entries with clean performances. With jumps raised, Leap Frog under Miss Penny Rampona and Tania ridden by Miss Bobbie Gardner again had no faults. On the third round, with time to count, Rampona with his stablemate Paleface, are being readied for the Team. Up to the last class, the jumper stake, five horses were pushing hard for the tri-color awards. Millarden Farms' Bedford finally topped stablemate Oregon Duke by ¼ point.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh's Springsbury Farm Challenge Trophy was retired by W. J. Brewster's My Bill. This was the third straight win for the Brewster horses, Friar's Delight taking the honors in 1952-53. Friar's Delight took a second leg on the Rolling Rock Farms Challenge for ladies' hunters and My Bill returned to the ring for a second consecutive leg on the Cassilis Challenge Trophy. These horses were ridden throughout the show by Miss Myrna Felvey.

Miss Peggy Augustus on her horse Waiting Home was able to top them all by 3½ points to take home a well earned conformation championship. Also to Miss Augustus' credit goes the Newbold Ely's Hounds Challenge Trophy and the working hunter reserve. The latter being taken by her black horse, Defense.

Miss Maxine IX, riding Mrs. J. Deane Rucker's Spanish Mint in the ladies conformation hunter class, had a nasty fall. Her horse shied at a buggy and was going to run out at the stonewall. Miss IX they pinned 4th in both classes. In another case a horse was pinned 2nd to return to be pinned 4th with the 4th horse of the preceding class getting 3rd place. Judges can really do some strange things at times.

Tuesday evening was highlighted by a coach horn blowing contest. Young Tod Addis, bracing himself well and choosing a fairly simple call, was able to easily top the contestant from Valley Forge odd colored mare was ridden by Miss Kay Tremper. In for reserve, just ½ pt. behind was Thumb Hill, ridden by Miss Barbara Friedmann, her owner.

The jumper division provided a surprise winner in Louis Garten's owner-ridden Redwood. Although Mr. Garten has shown the horse for several years and has acquired a goodly number of ribbons, this was his first championship. In for reserve was Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Merkel's German-bred Anore. The big, brown mare had been ridden by Jack Amon.

Miss Susan Findlay's Torn Pages, ridden by Miss Althea Knickerbocker, continued her enviable record of acquiring championships. So far, she has missed being pinned champion or reserve in only one show this year and that was her first show. This time she accounted for the working tri-color by virtue of her win in the preliminary, into which she had gone one point behind her stablemate, Heads Up, whose riding had been shared by the owner and Miss Knickerbocker. Although he did not place in the preliminary, Heads Up still retained the reserve ribbon.

Ribbons in the green division were well divided, and no horse accounted for more than one blue ribbon. Top award went to the winner of the lady's and the only horse to place in all her classes, Miss Sissy Duffy's Strawberry Hill. The

Appletchee Riders

Closely following the National Apple Blossom Festival the West Coast celebrated the arrival of their blossoms with a horse show held at the same time as the festival, and thus opened the show season in Washington State.

Four clean rounds and two jumps in the first open jumper class caused the spectators to ride from their seats as though they were going to help some horse and rider over a difficult obstacle.

A tricky triple in and out in the next jumping event caused many faults. Only Libby Ruch's Mr. Mac got himself over each part of the unit to turn in a clean performance.

Armory Riding School

This turned out to be one of the smallest shows held by the Armory Riding School but everything went along very well. Quite a number of the riders left the scene so that they could be on hand to see The Maryland Hunt Cup at Glyn-don, Md. but since another show in the West Orange vicinity postponed its event, this added a few entries to the Armory classes.

Seven Nations Vie For International Honors at Luzerne Horse Show

Reiner Schlosser

There were 7 nations represented at the 32nd Luzerne (Switzerland) Show—Egypt, France, Germany, Ireland, Switzerland and Turkey plus Col. H. M. Llewellyn to represent Gt. Britain with Foxhunter and Lady Jane.

The show began with the spectacular success of the Helsinki gold-medal winner M. d'Oriola (France) who won both divisions of the Preis vom Burgenstock. In the division for horses which had not competed in Luzerne before, he rode Voulette to victory against 54 competitors, and also came second with Arlequin. Third was Herr Winkler (Germany) riding Tosca V., and 4th Cap. Salih Koc (Turkey) on Basak. The division for horses which had already competed in Luzerne was won by M. d'Oriola on Charleston with Col. Llewellyn's Foxhunter 2nd and Cap. Sumer (Turkey) third.

The second day brought a surprising victory for the Swiss civilian rider V. Morf on Figaro, with Frau Kohler (Germany) on Armalva second and M. Beguin (France) on Vengeur 3rd. In this competition Foxhunter only distinguished himself by a refusal.

Monday's international competition, a course with 8 jumps, each 1.50 m high, which were subsequently raised to 1.80 m, was won by Herr Winkler on Halla (Germany) with Capt. Selim Kaki (Egypt) on Inshalla as runner-up. This Irish-bred gelding, 18 years old, the senior of the horses competing at Luzerne, jumped most consistently throughout the show and greatly impressed spectators by his routine and the acrobatic way in which he managed to clear obstacles from impossible looking angles. This year Egyptian riders are practically for the first time competing at the bigger international shows and both in Rome and Luzerne they did very well indeed. I remember that after the Helsinki games Dr. Rau the German "horse pope" seemed quite impressed by the horsemanship of the Egyptian riders as well as by their mounts, and thought that with a bit more experience they were going to play some part in international equestrian. The same can be said of the Turks, also newcomers in international shows, who certainly were not among the "also-rans" either in Rome or Luzerne.

Due to heavy rain and mud Tuesday did not bring particularly good performances. In the Vierwaldstadter See Priz there were no clear rounds! Winner was M. d'Oriola on Voulette with Capt. Omar el Hadari (Egypt) second, Lt. Cullinan (Ireland) 3rd, riding Portmanock, and Capt. Bedri Boke (Turkey) on Kurt, 4th. The Prize of the Irish minister of Defense was won by the Egyptian Capt. S. Zaki on Inshalla, 2nd came M. d'Oriola's Charleston and 3rd M. Beghin (France) on Vengeur.

By Thursday the weather was fine again for the relay jumping competition, with 14 teams, consisting of 3 riders each, taking part. This was won by the German team consisting of Frau Kohler—Armalva, Herr Winkler—Alpenjager, and Magnus von Buchwaldt—Jaspis, the only team with a clear round. Second came the Swiss team, and the French 3rd. Another German team was 4th.

The Militarpreis was won by Capt. de Rham (Switzerland) on Va Vite with the French Capt. de Beaufort second and Capt. Omar el Hadari (Egt.) third.

Winner of Saturday's Preis von Meggenhorn was once again M. d'Oriola with Voulette, runner up was a French lady Mlle. E. Grawitz riding Inca and Capt. Ilg (Switzerland) third. Saturday's sensation was the Prix des Nations, which was won by the German team, although practically everybody expected the French team to win. The German team, consisting of Frau Kohler—Armalva, Herr Winkler—Halla, M. von Buchwaldt—Jaspis and Herr Rodenberg—Hanna, was also handicapped by the bad fall of Frau Kohler, who broke her collarbone, I believe for the 3rd time in her career. Second were the Irish riders Capt. Barry—Glanmire, Lt. Moroney—Castletown, Lt. Cullinan—Portmanock and Lt. Kierna. Herr Winkler was also individual winner in front of M. F. Beghin 2nd, and M. von Buchwaldt third.

Saturday brought the only victory for Col. Llewellyn riding Lady Jane in a section of the "Preis von Lido". Section b. was won by Herr Winkler on Tosca 2nd. It was pouring with rain when the show finished with the last competition, the Prize of the City of Luzerne. Here M. d'Oriola riding Voulette was tied for first with M. Beghin on Vengeur. Third came a Swiss rider, Capt. Ilg.

M. d'Oriola also won the special prize for the most successful competitor, with Herr Winkler as runner-up. The most successful horse was M. Beghin's Vengeur in front of Herr Winkler's Alpenjager. Best lady competitor was Frau Kohler.

This was the second Nations Cup the German team has won this year. The first one they got in Dortmund and they failed only narrowly to win it in Rome where they were a very close second to the Spanish team.

Mrs. Hugh Barclay's Balko's Edge, had the winning combination that night and came away with the blue in the $1000 knock-down-and-out stake preliminary.

The younger generation supplied the excitement during the first evening performance—10-year-old Steve Licker took a nose dive in the amateur jumpers, banged his head on the picket fence in the process but apparently it didn't bother the little lad too much as he kept right on showing. Young Peter Schmidt lost an iron in the lightweight working hunters and spent the time going around the course riding high on the horse's neck like an Indian in an attempt to regain his balance.

Friday night was another good jumping night and Velvet Lassie, owned by Mrs. Herbert Thomas, was the winner of the progressive jumpers, this time they were jumping off at 5'-0". Ethel M., owned by San-Joy Farms, was hot on Velvet Lassie's heels with only ½ a fault. Velvet Lassie, the following day, won the broad jump event, proving that this mare can take the jumps any way.

Timber's Last, a 3-year-old, owned by Mrs. Hugh Barclay, was selected as green hunter champion and Miss Lorna J. Knight's Brightness was reserve.

Saturday morning produced all the equestrian classes and again the Forman family collected two more blues with Jim winning the A. H. S. A. medal class as well as the A. S. P. C. A. (sister Sally taking a 3rd in this class). Sunday evening brought the show to its climax. Miss Elizabeth Ginther, riding Walter Arenz's horse Sir Winston, came away with the conformation hunter championship. This win retired the huge trophy presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Grupp. Working hunter champion was again Moonlight Bay, owned by Miss Claire Lang Miller and ably ridden by Jim Forman. Sunset Road repeated his last year's win as reserve working hunter. He is owned and ridden by Mrs. Max Bonham. Excitement was the keynote at the last jumping class with Velvet Lassie and Balko's Edge battling it out. Velvet Lassie eventually won the championship.

Congressional

Despite a steady drizzle on the opening day of the Congressional Horse Show, the show went on.

Though the entries were small in comparison to other years, the quality was more than expected.

The Zimmerman boys, 11-year-old Jimmy and 15-year-old Richard, completely stole the crowd, as they won the small pony champion and reserve and the large pony title.

Little Jimmy, riding Moonlight, was making his first appearance in a recognized show, and won his first blue ribbon and his first trophy, by gaining the small pony champion over his brother, who rode his grey pony Nutcracker to the reserve.

This seemed to be the show for brothers, as Pinocchio, a full brother to Nutcracker, was awarded the large pony championship. He was handled by Richard to top Miss Laura Lee and Ken Shreve's Thumbs Up. With Laura Lee handling the saddle assignment, Thumbs Up was a familiar sight to the local fans, as she is well known as the pony that Miss Sue Ann Freeman showed a few years back.

Miss Terry Yates, riding her good jumping chestnut Craft, was a double winner as they were pinned on top in both the junior and small hunter divisions.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dillon's April Dawn, with Miss Sarah Willis riding, was the reserve winner in the junior division, while Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Hughes, Jr.'s Bon Bon, ridden by Mrs. "Skipper" Hughes, took the reserve in the small hunter division.

Sunday brought the sunshine and good weather, along with a lot of good performances. A new fence was added on the outside course, a big aiken, and most of the horses fenced very brilliantly over this fence.

Waverly Farm's good looking grey gelding Bygino, with George Kerns doing the saddle work, put in one good round after another to make a clean sweep of the green hunter division, winning every class in which he was entered, to end the show with the green conformation hunter tri-color. Mr. and Mrs. William Howland's Star Flight, ridden by Mrs. Howland was pinned reserve.

In the open jumper division George DiPaula's Lariat was pinned the champion. Lariat was ridden by Fritz Burkhardt to win his first class, by Mrs. Don Haubert to win the ladies jumper class, and by his usual rider Linky Smith in the rest of the events for his score of 19 points.

The reserve in the jumper division was Tom DeBaufre's Virginia Miss, which was ridden by Buddy Conrad, except when Miss Joan Ostrow took over in the ladies jumper class.

Also a double winner was Claude W. Owen's Sky's Light. Ridden by Gardner Hallman, the 6-year-old grey mare, which is a three quarter sister to Mr. Owen's Sky's Shadow, seems to be following in "Shadow's" foot steps as she was pinned on top in the working hunter division, with Sky's Shadow reserve. In the conformation division Waverly Farm's Tidal Wave, under the expert handling of Mrs. Jane Pohl Rust, topped a fair sized field to be champion, with Sky's Light reserve.

In the horsemanship classes, Miss Sarah Willis was the high scoring winner, taking the blues in both the V. H. S. A. and the A. S. P. C. A. Maclay class.

Dutchess County P. H. A.

The downpour of rain on Saturday postponed the show until Sunday, and the show was a great success a day late. The judges list changed because of the delay, but William Alexander was able to stay and Tom Mason was good enough to come on short notice to do the equitation honors.

Speaking of equitation honors, a new star looms on the horizon. Raymond Burr's very young Susie won the beginners horsemanship on her pony, Drummer Boy. Miss Susan Lounsbury and Miss Rosalind LaRoche divided up the older group equitation blues, with Rosalind coming out the champion and Susan reserve.

Miss Jean Cochrane's good bay, My Chance, was back in winning form again and was champion with 17 points over Rally Farms' Dunkirk with 16½ points. Carl Schilling looked awfully good to everyone "back in the saddle again", riding My Chance to the top and the good young horses, Country Boy and Johnny Scarlet, to victory in the green and young classes.

Miss Sheila Melville rode Dunkirk to victory in The Red Ransom Challenge Trophy class for hunters, amateur to ride. The Melville's Spunky Miss was children's horse champion over Miss Jeri Schaal's Hollechip. The children's classes were well filled and hotly contested, with a good all-around horse needed to emerge the champion.

Fayetteville Lions Club

Sunny skies and warm weather prevailed over the first outdoor show of the season sponsored by the Fayetteville Lions Club.

Mrs. F. A. Porter, Jr.'s Peter Drever made his first outing of the year a winning one. Ridden by his owner, this bold jumping gelding has a way of going that is hard to beat. He finished the day as hunter champion.

Miss Marium Duffy of Scarsdale, brought her Main Attraction up from the Knox School in Cooperstown, New York, to have the winning round in the hunter stake. She added to this the reserve hunter tri-color after placing consistently in the ribbons all day.

ly Rugged which gained the first leg on the Albert F. Hopstein Memorial Challenge Trophy for children's hunters. His rider, Miss Kathy Hagadorn, also had an excellent round to win the Maclay.

There was a tie for the champions in the jumper division. A jumpoff decided the tri-color in favor of Ace Hi, owned and ridden by Franklin Miller. Paul Day riding Clyde Stone's Play Fair had to settle for the reserve.

A young rider that everyone is sitting up and taking notice of is 11-year-old Miss Susan Digney. For the second week in a row, she topped her age group in equitation. She guides her lovely chestnut gelding Iratoba over the fences as expertly as she does on the flat. Her biggest thrill came when she copped the blue over a large field of good hacks in the hunter hack class.

Penn State Riding Club

This year, Penn Hall School from Chambersburg, Pa. sent 15 horses and 20 riders to compete in our show. Grier School from Tyrone, Pa., was also well represented with 8 horses and 12 riders. Other entries included riders of the University, residents of Centre County and outlying areas.

Miss Gail Smith, a Penn State student, rode her own chestnut gelding, Inflammable, for the hunter championship. Miss Candy Schneider rode Candy Bar, a Grier School entry, for the jumper championship of the show. Candy Bar was also reserve champion hunter. The reserve champion jumper was Nomad, ridden by Miss Sue Strausbaugh of Penn Hall School.

The show was held along with our modified Three-Day Event. It was set up to give those horses competing in the Three-Day Event an equal chance to be in the show itself. We were pleased with the results when Three-Day horses came on to receive ribbons in hunting and jumping classes of the show. There was shown a good number of well schooled horses and riders throughout the three days of the show.

Philadelphia National

The Philadelphia National Horse Show, resumed this year after a year's lapse, was held on the grounds of the Rose Tree Hunt Club at Media, Pa. A new ring was installed in the center oval of the club and the outside course was set up over the famous timber course, thus giving the spectators a view of every jump from the grandstand.

The big individual winner of the show was Evening Pink, owned and shown by Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Motch of Virginia. Winning seven classes and taking 2nd in one, and 3rd in another, this outstanding horse won 26 points for the green conformation championship. Evening Pink is a big chestnut with a lovely way of moving and beautiful manners.

Miss Betty Bosley of Unionville, showing nine horses belonging to various owners, was the big individual winner taking 31 ribbons. She won the green working championship on U Owe Me, Walter Wickes, Jr.'s good brown gelding. Shown for the first time this year, he shows promise of being one of the great working horses of the country. Miss Bosley took home the reserve championship in the working hunter division on Bronze Wings, also owned by Mr. Wickes. Xenophon, owned by A. O. Choate, was the reserve conformation champion. A great moving chestnut, he too was ridden by Miss Bosley.

The local working hunter championship was battled out until the last class by the well known brother and sister team of Miss Betty Jane Baldwin and H. C. Baldwin, 3rd, better known as "Jiggs". Riding the grey mare owned by Robert Tindle of Valley Forge Farms, Aer Lingus, Betty Jane won the championship with 11½ points. In for reserve was Jayber, bred, owned and ridden by her brother "Jiggs" with 11 points. This championship was not settled until the preliminary where Aer Lingus hacked enough better than Jayber to win the class.

Oregon Duke, owned by Millarden Farms and ridden by Pat Dixon, won another open jumper championship. He won the $500 open jumper stake and took ribbons in most of the other classes where he was entered. Mr. Dixon also rode the Millarden Farms working hunter, Borealis, to win the working hunter tri-color.

As usual the children's classes overflowed with good horses and ponies. Miss Cristy West, the little miss who rides her own pony Mousie, as well as her mother's hunters, won the pony championship with Mousie. In for reserve was Gracie Firecracker, owned and ridden by George Maurer, Jr. of Greenville, Delaware.

The children's horse championship went to Dark Savage, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brown, of Montclair, N. J. and ridden by their young daughter. Miss Margaret McGinn on her own Little Cracker took home the reserve tri-color. Miss McGinn also won both the MacLay class and the medal class for hunter seat.

Little Miss Mimi Cummin on her bay pony Little Toot won the pony division of the Pony Club class. Still young enough for lead line classes, Mimi put in a terrific round over jumps to get the biggest applause of the day from the spectators. She rides with the Radnor Pony Club. The Kitten, owned and ridden by Miss Carol Hoffman, won the Pony Club Class for horses. Of the eight ribbons in the two Pony Club Divisions, Carol was the only one not riding for the Radnor Club on top for points in this area so far.

First Woman Rider Over Jumps at National in Old Madison Square Garden

Elizabeth Von Tress

Mrs. Marian Holloway Hirst was the first woman ever to ride over jumps at the National Horse Show in the Old Madison Square Garden. In 1897 she rode her own hunter Richmond in a jumping class only to have him fall at the last jump. Most of the attendants and the audience thought she was seriously injured, but in the next class she came back to take him around the course again. Only 17 years old at the time, it scared the officials so badly that ladies were not allowed in jumping classes again until 1900. Miss Holloway, on Ben Bolt, her 7-year-old bay gelding, was the first person in that class. That year she and her hunter won the lightweight championship. He also won an open jumping class with the fences at 5 feet 3 inches.

Mrs. William L. Hurst on Ben Bolt, taken at the Atlantic City Show in 1900 when she was Marion Holloway. The bay gelding Ben Bolt was then a 7-year-old.

Born in England, but living in Colorado until she was 12, Mrs. Hirst rode cutting horses before she came to New Jersey and took up hunting and showing. She competed in her first show at the age of 14, riding as she always did, side saddle. She and her brother Sidney Holloway were familiar figures at all of the eastern shows for many years—both showed their own horses as well as those belonging to friends. She also drove fine harness horses and won with them.

Her interest in horses and hunters has never lagged however, and she is still on the committees for many of the shows in this area. She founded the Sugar-town show 16 years ago and has raised about $150,000 for the benefit of St. Vincents Hospital for Women and Children.

Sidney Holloway, Mrs. Hirst's brother, is a well known figure in Virginia and Pennsylvania having been master of the Albermarle and later the Keswick Hounds as well as a great steeplechase rider.

Virginia School And College Riding Meet

The Foxcroft School horse show team won the championship of the Virginia School and College Riding Meet held at Middleburg on the winners' own show grounds with 39 points.

Seven schools representing Washington and Virginia competed for a new Frank J. Gilliam Challenge Trophy. The old trophy was retired last year by Madeira School of Greenway, Va.

The Fairfax County public schools team took 2nd place with 30 points, while other teams represented St. Anne's of Charlottesville, Chatham Hall of Chatham, Va., and the Washington Colleges. Hill School of Middleburg, made a last minute entry with its four member team, each of whom was under 13 years of age.

Miss Bunny Porter, riding Miss Charlotte Noland's Van Epps for Foxcroft, won six firsts and took the equitation championship and individual honors for the modified three day event. Foxcroft also won the modified three day team award.

In another instance, however, this practice was omitted, when the 6-time world champion five-gaited horse, the incomparable Wing Commander, after winning a challenge trophy, was announced only by number. It seems to me incredible that the announcer should make no mention of the name of this famous horse, failing to inform the public of the caliber of the performance they had just seen!

Certainly the exhibitors would be most pleased and satisfied to have the names of their winning horses publicized by loud-speaker announcement. And, most certainly, the spectators' interest would be expanded and intensified at hearing winning horses' names. And surely, the Management of the Devon Horse Show would benefit greatly from such announcements—aren't they hiding the prominence of the performing horses at their show?

Any rules of the A. H. S. A. notwithstanding, it is common practice at horse shows, large and small, the country over to give the names of horses as well as owners and/or riders which have won ribbons and prizes. Perhaps the readers of The Chronicle will be able to create sufficient demand for such announcements so that they will be a regular feature of next year's Devon Horse Show and succeeding ones.

Sincerely yours,

Paul Davidson

Cross-Country Riding

Dear Sir:

May I ask you a question. I would like very much to use my coming vacation to gain some experience in cross-country riding, but I am at a loss as to where to go. Since you are so familiar with everything pertaining to the subject of cross-country work, I would assume that you could recommend to me a couple of places where to write, so I could work out some arrangement. Here in St. Louis, I have been riding at Missouri Stables' indoor and outdoor rings, and on the bridge paths in Forest Park, and out at Westwood where the trail goes through what might be called "open country." But most of the work around here is 3 and 5 gaited equitation. I'd like to go for a few weeks to some place outside the city where I could really learn something about cross-country equitation.

I'm sure there must be places like this and if there are such places, I'm sure you know!

I shall appreciate very much to hear from you.

Very sincerely,

Max M. Nathan

POLO NEWS

Naval Officer Would Like to See Polo Club Established in Virginia

Dear Sir:

A salute to The Chronicle for its Annual Polo issue. Very well done indeed!

When I returned to the United States after three years of duty as Assistant Naval Attache in India, I thought I would never play polo again because it didn't seem to me that a naval officer without an outside income would be able to afford the game in the United States. In India, it had been wonderful. During the last two years I was there, I was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Delhi Polo Club. (Incidentally, I believe it is the oldest Polo Club in the world.) We had thirty-nine playing members, two polo fields and everybody was able to play twice a week if he wanted to. We had slow chukkers for beginners and good fast polo for the high goal players. But for me, the climax of the tour polo-wise, was just before I left for home. A visiting Argentine team which included the two Zavelita brothers, came to Delhi to play the India Army. About a week before the scheduled game a casualty occurred to one of the Argentine players and I was invited to play on the Argentine side. The game was close, 5-4 in favor of Argentina. After the game, I sold my ponies and a month later was back in the States.

My orders were to take command of a submarine in San Diego. Most of the time the submarines in that area operated out for the whole week and returned to port on the week ends. But occasionally they came in for a night's liberty during the week. As far as horses were concerned, things looked awfully grim for one newly assigned submarine commander named Kittredge. But there is something about the outside of a horse that's awfully good for the inside of a man, and one Tuesday night when my submarine was in port, my wife and I went over to Balboa Stables to see about riding. To our amazement, a night indoor polo game was in progress. Bill Allen, who was in one of your issues about two weeks back playing in the new indoor arena in Tucson, was also playing that night. As luck would have it, another player was needed as the game proceeded. Within a month, I had two ponies and I found that if you want to play the game badly enough, you can afford it—at least you can afford to belong to the nearest polo club and play regularly even though it's only a chukker or so once a week. I know from experience in running a polo club that it is possible to have a number of members who have only one pony (or even none providing the club owns "renters") and give each member just about the amount of polo he wants.

Recently, I was transferred to duty in the Pentagon and one of the things which has amazed me about living in Virginia is that there is no polo here. True, there is the Washington Polo Club but that is not on the Virginia side and incidentally, they would like very much to see a team spring up in Virginia because of the intersectional rivalry. And of course, there is the University of Virginia but that is naturally limited in membership and most of us have passed the age when we could belong. Somehow, it seems a shame to me that here in Virginia, in the horse country of the east so to speak, there is not a single Polo Club in existence. Whenever I ask a Virginia horseman if he would be interested in polo, the answer is invariably the same. "Yes, but I'm afraid it would interfere with hunting." Now I'll be frank to admit, I haven't done too much hunting. In India, the country was flat pounds on his back and yet I sold him for a polo pony. Cruel? No! He was an even better polo pony than jumper. To my hunting friends, I would like to ask a few questions. Is there any harm in riding a horse properly collected? Or having it flex correctly at the poll? Can this be done with a snaffle? Is there any harm in teaching a horse to neck rein or teaching him to change his leads at a canter, merely by a reversal of the leg aids? Is there any harm in teaching a horse to stop on its haunches, to use its weight to his own advantage—or to be handy and jump off in the direction you want and on the right lead.

Ah! But on the other hand polo is supposed to be hard on a horse. How many polo ponies do you hear of breaking down? As I said before, a naval officer's salary is limited so every horse I ever owned had to play polo and never did and the only thing to jump was a mud fence and instead of foxes the hounds chased jackels. When I say chased jackels I mean just that. There were so many jackels, the pack would never end up on the scent of the one they started out after. All in all, it was pretty dull business so I stuck to the polo and the pig sticking whenever I could get it. But I did do a little show jumping and here is where I'm sure your hunting readers will throw this letter down in disgust,—the show jumping I did, convinced me that polo is good for a jumper because the two great things that polo teaches a horse are obedience and heart. Anyone that has ever watched a polo game knows that the ponies are in there trying every minute.

I owned a wonderful horse while I was in New Delhi. Two years in a row he won highest jumping awards in India, a first one year in the open jumping of the President's Bodyguard Gymkhana and a second the next. He was second due to a fault of mine, not his. I have included his picture with this letter. He could clear the triple bar at five and a half feet with a hundred and eighty anything worse than a cold happen to any of them. There was however, one exception. Just once, I bought a race horse. He was a good horse and he could run a good mile. But he never played polo and he pulled up one day with a bowed tendon. The answer—polo fits a horse.

So if you know anyone around McLean, Virginia who is interested in trying to get together to knock that willowroot ball around, I can always be found on Balls Hill Road, off Old Dominion.

Sincerely,

G. W. Kittredge

Ivory Rangers Open Season with Victory Over Harbor Hills

Art Hagan

The Ivory Rangers opened their 1954 polo campaign with a victory over Harbor Hills of Columbus (O.) here Sunday afternoon, June 6. The final score, 15-8, was a good measure of the Rangers' superiority.

The Rangers moved into the lead when Fred Lutzow passed to Mac Stefani who belted in the first goal of the season after 5:50 of play in the opening chukker. They were never headed after that. A five-goal rally in the fourth chukker widened the gap over Harbor Hills to 9-3, and the Ohioans never seriously threatened to overhaul the Rangers again.

The victory was especially satisfying since Harbor Hills dealt the Rangers a 16-6 loss last year. It was the only game the Rangers lost on the grass in 1953, and one of the most humiliating drubbings the team had ever sustained.

Despite the fact that rainy weather had made practice impossible for a full week before the game, the new Ranger combination clicked from the start. Passing and defensive checking was exceptionally sharp for an opening game. Harbor Hills also played a strong game but couldn't match the balanced power in the Ranger line-up.

The Rangers scored in every chukker, and everyone in the Ranger alignment counted at least one goal. Mac Stefani, 52 and a veteran of two decades of polo, was high for the contest with five goals. Capt. Jack Ivory scored four, Lutzow three, Jack Stefani two and Johnny Ryan one.

Lew Smith, nine-goal ace from East Aurora (N. Y.), is under contract to the Rangers again this season. He was loaned to Harbor Hills to even the competition. The switch gave Harbor Hills an aggregate handicap of 16 goals to 14 for the Rangers.

Smith played his usual superb game. He knocked in four goals, but that figure doesn't reflect his value to Harbor Hills. He was a defensive stalwart and a canny playmaker.

Frank Harris and Otie Harris (not related) each scored twice for Harbor Hills.

Farmington Valley Team Wins a Doubleheader Memorial Day Weekend

Ann Braun

The Farmington Valley Polo Team seems destined for a very successful season after its second and third victories against no defeats in the Memorial Day Weekend, Saturday-Monday doubleheader.

Al Marenholz, Farmington's big back, raised his season total to 14 in three games, leading his team to 13-10 and 11-5 victories over Yale and Long Island, respectively.

In Saturday's game against Yale, the host team spotted the Bulldogs a six-goal handicap, then with Marenholz knocking in the six equalizers, went on to victory on three more goals by Frank Butterworth, who played pivot, two by Barclay Robinson at No. 1, and one each by George Gilman of Hartford, who alternated at No. 1, and Pete Jackson of Tuscarora, Nevada, on loan from Yale.

Yale totaled only four earned goals, with Captain-elect Joe Williams of Camden, S. C., getting half of them. Mal Wallop of Big Horn, Wyo., the 1954 captain, scored another on a 60-yard penalty shot, and back Fred Lutz of Scarsdale, N. Y., got the fourth.

On Monday a large crowd cheered the home team to a rout of Long Island, after watching them struggle with difficulty to a 5-4 half-time lead. The exuberance of the young visitors, led by Mal Wallop with two goals, carried them through the first four periods, but Farmington had the advantage of superior teamwork and overall strength, and pulled away in the final periods. Marenholz was again high, this time with five goals, and Butterworth followed with three.

Meadow Brook Defeats Blind Brook Quartet By a 7 to 3 Score

Bill Briordy

The 1954 outdoor polo season was ushered in at the Blind Brook Polo Club, Purchase, N. Y., on Sunday afternoon, June 6, when the home quartet lost a 7-to-3 decision to the Meadow Brook Club.

Charles R. Leonard, Jr., riding with Leverett Miller, Henry Lewis 3d and George Kent, spearheaded the Meadow Brook attack with three goals. This was a match which saw the winners take a 3-0 advantage at half-time.

Blind Brook, held scoreless for the first four chukkers, got two of its goals in the fifth stanza and one in the sixth. Meadow Brook, showing a more coordinated attack, counted twice in the fifth and twice in the sixth.

Lewis split the posts twice, as did Miller. Tommy Glynn made two of Blind Brook's tallies, while Bob Ackerman registered the other. Maj. Fred Collin and Crawford rounded out the Blind Brook side.

At Bethpage State Park, Farmington, L. I., two goals hit off the mallet of Walter Scanlon in the final chukker enabled the Bethpage Polo Club to take the measure of the Brookville poloists, 7 to 5.

Scanlon and Johnny Rice shared the scoring laurels with three markers each, while Johnny Gayer topped the Brookville scorers with three tallies. Scanlon and Rice had Bill Stoothoff and Bill Leanes as their teammates.

In this engagement, each team scored once in the first five chukkers until Scanlon broke away for his pair of goals in the last period. Fred Zeller, Arthur Kaye and Arthur Norden rounded out the Brookville side.

POLO DISCONTINUED

Polo suffered a great set back recently when the New Mexico Military Institute announced discontinuance of the game after May, 1954. The team will be remembered as winning the intercollegiate polo championship this spring. The only reason given was that not enough boys could take part in this sport as in football.

Rowston Manor and Ferriol were joint favourites at 5/1, Sir Percy Loraine's Darius at 7/1, Elopement at 9/1 and Valerullah, who had won easily at Salisbury, following his Newmarket Stakes defeat, at 100/9. Never Say Die was freely offered at 33/1 as was J. E. Ferguson's colt Arabian Night.

Rowston Manor was quickly away, as were Darius and Never Say Die, but after three furlongs the fancied outsider l'Avenegro took up the running. l'Avenegro still held a slight lead approaching halfway from Rowston Manor, with Landau, Darius and Never Say Die next, among a group. l'Avenegro lost his place coming down the hill and Landau drew level with Rowston Manor entering the straight. Darius was close behind them, followed by Longden on Blue Sail, Never Say Die and Elopement.

Blue Sail then dropped back and, with Rowston Manor and Landau also beginning to weaken, Darius raced into the lead two and a half furlongs from home, challenged by Never Say Die. The issue was not long in doubt. Never Say Die quickened and raced clear to win by two lengths. Arabian Night came with a spectacular run on the outside and caught Darius in the last few strides to beat him a neck for second place.

Elopement was fourth, Narrator fifth, Blue Prince II sixth, Rowston Manor seventh, Landau eighth, l'Avenegro ninth and Blue Sail tenth. Ferriol, the only French trained horse in the race, never gave his backers much hope. He was the next to finish.

Never Say Die, who was bred by Mr. Clark in the United States, is by Nasrullah out of Singing Grass by War Admiral. Nasrullah, now on your side of the Atlantic, was in Ireland when Mr. Clark decided to mate Singing Grass with him, and after she was bred, was brought back to Jonabell Farm, Lexington, Kentucky, to foal Never Say Die.

Mr. Clark, races exclusively in England, and has several trainers here. He will probably set up another stud, in this country, within the near future.

The winning owner's age (variously reported to be between seventy-seven and eighty) provides a contrast to the youth of Lester Piggott, Never Say Die's jockey. Lester was born on November 5th, Guy Fawkes Day, 1935. He has been in the limelight since the age of thirteen, when he started riding a string of winners and had the misfortune to be "dubbed" as the "Boy Wonder", in sections of the popular press.

Piggott, for all the publicity, has remained a quiet, shy boy, without a trace of conceit in him. He comes from a racing family and is apprenticed to his father's stable.

Joe Lawson, Never Say Die's trainer has long been one of the most respected members of his profession. He spent some years as "head lad" to the late Alec Taylor at Manton, before setting up as a trainer himself.

Time may prove Never Say Die to be a Derby winner well up to the average. He obviously needs at least a mile and a half to bring out the best in him, so his disappointing form over shorter distances should be disregarded. The colt may run at the Royal Ascot meeting, but the St. Leger will be his next main objective.

Arabian Night also ran the best race of his career in the Derby. I called attention to his performance in the Two Thousand Guineas in my previous article and his price would have been much shorter at Epsom but for a disappointing display, on firm going, in the Newmarket Stakes. A personal opinion is that these two colts and Rawston Manor, who found the Epsom course too sharp, were the only high class stayers in the Derby. Darius is a brilliant colt up to a mile and a quarter, but it was only his class and pluck that carried him into a place. There are plenty of valuable races for him to win over shorter distances.

The Oaks, run two days after the Derby, is a race that most Englishmen will want to forget in a hurry. None of our fillies could reach a place behind the French invaders Sun Cap, Altana and Philante. Sun Cap outclassed the rest of the field in a slowly run race and came from a bad position to win easing up by six lengths.

Sun Cap belongs to Mme Maude Forget, a Parisienne, whose husband has interests in the chemicals industry. The Forgets have their own stud at Argentan, in Normandy, and it was there that they bred Sun Cap. The filly is by their own sire Sunny Boy, one of the most promising young stallions in France. Sun Cap is a filly who will do nothing at home and in her final gallop before the Oaks, she finished tailed off last, two hundred yards behind the other horses.

Bara Bibi did best of the English fillies, finishing fourth after a rough passage. Festoon did not stay the distance, while the going was too firm for Sybil's Niece and Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's lovely filly Hypera.

Aureole proved himself outstanding among the older horses at a mile and a half, by running away with the valuable Coronation Cup. Nearula failed to stay the distance, finishing a moderate third. Now that Pinza is out of the way, Aureole should pick up more valuable races for the Queen before he retires.

He is having a special training for Ascot's £25,000 International race, the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes over a mile and a half. With Native Dancer scratched and Never Say Die not engaged in the race, Aureole may have most to fear from Arabian Night.

Premonition, Aureole's stable companion, is equally outstanding among the home trained stayers. He started the season with a runaway success in the Yorkshire Cup and then won the Winston Churchill Stakes at Hurst Park, a course which did not suit him. Premonition should beat the French horses in the Ascot Gold Cup.

Pick of the two-year-olds so far seen out are J. S. Gerber's Royal Palm, a full brother to Royal Serenade, and two fast fillies in Aberlady and Cerise. W. C. Tarry's King Bruce should develop into one of the season's best sprinters.

Sir Gordon Richards has been out of the saddle for several weeks following a riding accident and he had to miss Epsom. The appearance of Johnny Longden at the meeting, however, partly made up for the champion's absence. Longden gave us a good look at the "acey deucey" style of riding when winning the Durdans Handicap on Bird Song.

Johnny never got far away from the reporters throughout his visit to England, but he stood up to their questions pretty well and some of his answers caused no little amusement. "I just came round it," he cracked, on being asked "How did you negotiate the famous Tattenham Corner?"

Longden received a tremendous ovation from the crowd after his win on Bird Song. He was born in our own Yorkshire, after all, you know! We cannot claim to have taught Johnny to ride, but we did feel pretty proud of our part in him as his little figure, dressed in Eton Blue silks, disappeared back into the Weighing Room.

ditions, and up to the last quarter it was almost anyone's race, but rounding the far turn, Mrs. Cordelia S. May's Billing Bear drew out from the others and won by a very convincing 7 lengths, with Earl Phelps doing the booting. Cottage Flame, the favorite was second by an almost equal distance, then Monterey, Salemaker and Flaw finished in a tight little knot in that order.

consigned by Henry H. Knight's Alma-hurst Farm, Lexington.

Miss Brief had previously produced Ocean Brief, captor of the Correction, Colonial and Camden Handicaps; and Cable, victor in the Yankee Handicap.

Carr Hatch bought Hip No. 230 for $17,000. Named Mr. Brief, the colt recently broke his maiden by three lengths in a Suffolk Downs allowance race to become "Djeddah's first winner.

Kindred Stars Boarding Farm

These mares in stud fees alone represent an outlay of over $50,000 having been bred this past season to such outstanding stallions as Citation, Coaltown, Polynesian, Eight Thirty, "Ardan, "Goya II, "Royal Charger, Menow, Dark Star, "Cortil, Shut Out and the four Woodvale stallions, Our Boots, Page Boots, Sport Page, and Haltal.

Also listed are 22 yearlings by such sires as "Rico Monte, Coaltown, War Relic, War Admiral, Devil Diver, Bimelech and First Fiddle.

L. H. Nelles' Canadian colors went to the winner's circle in the Golden Bridge Plate over hurdles. With Jockey F. D. Adams in the irons, Winnie The Imp was never headed, winning ahead of L. R. Troiano's Democles with Jockey A. P. Smithwick up.

ell Combs, Louis B. Mayer and Dan Midkiff, has taken over Charles Headley's farm, Lexington, as a boarding farm. Mr. Kindred will also look after laid-up or freshening horses, and break yearlings.

Whirling Fox's First

Mrs. A. Hullcoat's home-bred Clever Defense, a recent winner at Pimlico, is the first victor for Boxthorn Farm's Whirling Fox, who now stands at Tollie Young's Creekview Farm, Paris, Ky. Until this season, the stallion was located in Maryland.

Hill Gail Guess

The guessing—and it is only guessing—around Kentucky is that Hill Gail, earner of $332,555 for Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm, Lexington, will be put to stud in California. The recently retired son of Bull Lea—Jane Gail, by "Blenheim II, is still at Hollywood Park.

Cause for Celebration

John A. Bell III, Manager of his father's Jonabell Stables, Lexington, had a double cause for celebration on June 2. It was his young daughter's birthday; and it was also the day Robert Sterling Clark's Never Say Die, foaled and raised at Jonabell, won the Epsom Derby.

However, it proved a somewhat trying occasion for Mr. Bell. Between keeping order among the children, seeing that their pet cat did not get into the cake, accepting congratulations and answering reporters' questions, he confessed to being "very nervous."

three-year-old aristocrats. To the public, Calumet Farm's Miz Clementine appeared to be the most aristocratic—and she was.

Going at odds of 7 to 10, she won by a length and a quarter over Frosty Dawn, with Jet Lady third and Sixpence II fourth.

Sixpence II took the early lead, but Frosty Dawn and Miz Clementine were not far behind. Coming to the stretch, Miz Clementine went to the front and drew out.

The daughter of Bull Lea—Two Bob, by The Porter, won $12,900 which brought her 1954 earnings to $27,175. She has 3 wins and 2 seconds in 5 starts. She took the Goose Girl Stakes at Hollywood in May.

Last season, the Calumet-bred won the Pollyanna Stakes and was second in the Arlington Lassie. She was considered one of the best of last year's two-year-old fillies. Her earnings totalled to $34,100, with 2 wins and 1 second in 3 starts.

Jimmy Jones trains Miz Clementine. I Valenzuela had the mount in the Sea Breeze.

June Juvenile Stakes, 2nd running, 2-year-old colts and geldings, 5 furlongs (June 10). Calumet's Trentonian dropped another one at odds-on when R. C. Ellsworth's home-bred Swaps took the June Juvenile by 2½ lengths. Trentonian, in second place, was two lengths before Noir, which was a short neck better than Deovolente.

The winner, a son of "Khaled—Iron Reward, by "Beau Pere, brought Mr. Ellsworth $9650 for the race and has earned $14,650 for the season. He has 2 wins and a third in 3 starts.

M. A. Tenney trains for Ellsworth and J. Burton rides.

Palms Handicap, 3-year-olds, 1 mile (June 11). A. J. Crevolin Company's Allied ran his earnings for 1954 up to $35,500, by taking the $8250 first prize of the Palms Handicap. The bay son of "Ambiorix, out of Hot Slippers, by Our Boots was scoring his second win in 14 starts this year. He has been second twice and third 3 times.

Fault Free, Musselshell and Hobcaw Sage, were second, third and fourth as mentioned.

Allied was bred by The Sellersburg Corporation. He won the San Luis Rey Handicap at Santa Anita in March.

At two, Allied earned $8225 in 9 starts, with 2 wins and 5 seconds.

Crevolin bought him for $5100 at the 1952 Keeneland Sales.

Willie Molter handles the Crevolin string. Ray York had the mount on Allied in the Palms.

DIRECTORS' MEETING

The Directors of the Midwest Hunt Race Association will meet in the Post and Paddock Club at Chicago's Arlington Park on the morning of June 25th. The main business before the group will be the election of officers for the coming year.

ARLINGTON PARK HURDLE STAKES

The use of a point system will be used to determine which horses will be eligible to start in the $3,500 added Arlington Park Hurdle Stakes on June 25th. Only horses which raced over brush or hurdles during the current season on the Midwest Hunt Meeting circuit are eligible. With the final hunt meeting being the Royalton event at Indianapolis, Indiana, the maximum field of 12 starters for the hurdle stakes has been determined. The field thus lined up lists Ginny Bug, Open Bid, Princess Bug, Lady Roxana, Colonel V., Omaha Traveler, Farmer's Joy, The Deacon, Storm On, Storm Hour, *Ad Lot, and Big Breeze. Should one of these drop out before June 23rd, the alternate Rico Knight would thus become eligible.

YOUNG EXHIBITOR

Among the younger exhibitors at the Oklahoma City Charity Show was 7 weeks old Miss Deborah Suzanne Jones of Tatum, New Mexico. Her mother, Mrs. Suzanne Norton Jones, owned and showed The Desert Fox, jumper champion at the same show. —The Westerner

NAMES TEAM

The first branch to name its competitors for the Annual Inter Branch Pony Club Rally to be held June 24-29th at Sutton, Ontario, is the Eglinton Hunt Branch. Mrs. V. W. Bladen, district commissioner, announced that the selection of teams has been completed and that Eglinton will send the full complement permitted a branch—a 5-rider A-Associate Team and a 9-rider C-B Team. Names were not required until June 14 but other branches have indicated members who will take part in the rally. The Elkridge-Harford Branch from Maryland will have a 9 rider C-B Team and will send Sydney Gadd as a single competitor in the A-Association section. The Radnor Hunt Pony Club, Paoli, Pa., has entered a 3-man C Team. London, Ontario will send the full complement permitted in both sections. The Toronto & North York Hunt Branch, Aurora, Ont., will send a less than maxim sized C-B Team and also Miss Joan Burns as their A-Association contender. Montreal has indicated its C-B Team will be all C's and with the addition of Pierre Raymond, it is likely that it will have a 3-man A-Associate Team. —A. D. R.

VISITOR

Seen at the trial of the Canadian Jumping Team held at McGuinness Farm on May 29 was Mrs. H. S. Treviranus from Boyce, Va. Back in her old stamping ground for a brief visit, Mrs. Treviranus was understandably keen about the horses and riders Canada will send to England and Ireland in July. A shrewd observer, she seemed very favorably impressed. —Broadview Bazleyd, twice National Champion Arabian Stallion, registered in the American Stud Book, recently sold to Mrs. C. H. Asmis of Sykesville, Md.

THE AMATEUR

"The word 'amateur' has come by the thousand oddities of language to convey the idea of tepidity; whereas the word itself has the meaning of passion. Nor is this peculiarity confined to the mere form of the word; the actual characteristic of these nameless dilettanti is a genuine fire and reality. A man must love a thing very much if he not only practises it without any hope of fame or money, but even practises it without any hope of doing it well. Such a man must love the toils of the work more than any other man can love the rewards of it." —G. K. Chesterton

WONDERFUL ENTRY

I saw the most wonderful entry of my life yesterday in the Duke of Beaufort's kennel. Such quality with size! There was a large party of M.F.H.'s and they were full of admiration for the hounds. A very large percentage are light colored, by Portman Playfair '51. —Daphne Moore

INTER BRANCH PONY CLUB RALLY

The time table for the Inter Branch Pony Club Rally has been laid out and in brief will be as follows: Thursday afternoon, June 24, F.E.I. jumping for C's, B's and A's. A huge bonfire and sing song has been planned for the evening's entertainment. Friday at 7 a.m. there will be a special meet of the Toronto & North York hounds for the children. Later in the morning C's will have the best trained horse and pony test. A's and B's will perform dressage, the first phase of the Three Day Event, in the afternoon. Saturday morning C's will have their group riding test and A's & B's will judge conformation. A's and B's will have the cross-country phase of the Three Day Event in the afternoon. An open air square dance with the best caller in the county is planned for the evening. Sunday morning, following a special church service, the final events for C's, B's and A's will be held. After lunch will be the prize giving. —A. D. R.

AT PORTSMOUTH

Portsmouth is, by all odds, one of the biggest and best shows in Ohio. . . Many hunters and jumpers from many places . . . Interesting and well planned courses . . . Eight clean horses in the knock-down-and-out, necessitating two jump-offs. . . The space of only 1 fault separated the first five horses in the jumper stake with two horses clean. . . Two spectacular but uninjurious falls marred the jumper classes with Harry Brown and Diana Doran each tasting a bit of the track. . . The hunter classes were filled with good, consistent rounds. It was hard to get a ribbon without a near-perfect performance. . . Nice to see some new faces with good horses coming out this year. . . One of the most interest was Csaba Vedlick riding for Mr. Fleischmann's Winding Creek Farm near Cincinnati; really a polished horseman. . . The judges at the show were unexpected but fully adequate. Al Leggett and Howard Lewis did a fine job and agreed on all of their ties. —LHC

UP-ENDS—ENDS CHAMPION

John Cakebread had a full and interesting day at the Toronto (Canada) Horse Show. Doing his own jockeying on all his entries since Carl Anderson is in the hospital with a broken leg, he was having a busy time. Just before the working hunter stake everyone's attention was directed from the ring by the crack of splintering timber behind the line of cars. There was John Cakebread downed, with a horse on top of him and a pile of timber on top of the horse! All persons, including the principals, doubtless thought this was the end, but when everything was sorted out, Mr. Cakebread was on his feet and sound—so was the horse. With hardly time to catch his breath, his number was called to the stake. In he went to get the winning round which resulted in his being showered with trophies—that for the stake win. The tri-color was for the working hunter championship which carried with it the McGuinness Trophy and also the Rawlinson Memorial for qualified working hunters. When last seen, considerably later in the evening, the popular president of the Eglinton Hunt still hadn't caught his breath. —A. D. R.

STABLE CHAMPIONS

An interesting note of the recent Philadelphia National show was the number of champions to come out of the stables of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke of Virginia. Chappaqua, the conformation champion, was owned and trained by them until being sold last year to Mr. & Mrs. H. D. Paxson. Borealis, the working hunter champion, now owned by Millarden Farms, also had been in their stable. Evening Pink, the green conformation champion, was sold by Mr. Burke to Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Motch, although the Burkes never showed him. The Burkes also took two reserve championships on their own horses. Short Day in the conformation classes, and Best Luck in the green working hunter group.

ACTIVE RIDERS

The children of Queen Juliana of Holland are very active riders and competed in several horse shows recently. They have inherited their interest in horses from their father, Prince Bernhard, who who in previous years participated in polo games as well as in jumping competitions. Princess Irene received a few weeks ago a jumper as a present from her father and Princess Margriet took part in her first junior horse show and placed in several events.

NO RAIN!

First time in years that Devon Horse Show has had six full days without rain. This year they drew magnificent weather—68,000 spectators during the show—and 500 horses and ponies competed in 228 classes for $30,000—both spectators and exhibitors breaking all previous records. Seventeen States and Canada were represented.

AMERICANS LIKE IRISH

The In The Country item sometime back about the Irish horses at Melton Mowbray reminds the writer of this one. Many years ago when Lady Astor was Miss Nancy Langhorne, she owned a fine 'chaser called Queen Bee. This horse was to run in a race at Richmond, Va. It arrived by rail and while being unloaded, became frightened and got away from the groom. Down the cobbled main street flew Queen Bee, straight for the Capitol. At a cross road, out came a brougham—without a pause, Queen Bee leapt the brougham, landed safely in spite of the cobble stone and evidently was stopped at the gates to the Capitol.

HORSE SHOW CASUALTY

The meeting of a horse van and a mother rabbit at the Upperville Colt & Horse Show resulted in the death of the latter. The accident left homeless six tiny rabbits. Arriving at the scene, Mrs. Raymond Barbin quickly secured a cardboard box which she fixed up as temporary quarters for the rabbits. Feeding them several times during the day with a medicine dropper, she received information from all sides that the rabbits would not survive the night. This happened the day before the show started so the opening day found Mrs. Barbin hustling between the rabbit hutch and the showring. Taking time off to shop, she found a tiny "doll" bottle which she utilized to feed the rabbits. Toward the end of the second day of the show, the rabbits were doing fine and appeared well able to start their trip which would take them on to the Ox Ridge Horse Show.

VISITOR

Arthur Godfrey arrived on Friday night at The Devon Horse Show to watch his wife ride her own Arabian, Hunzikut, in the Arabian classes. Whisked to the committee booth by his old friend, Mrs. Charles Lee Harper, he had a fine view of the ring.

MILITARY HORSES

After experiences gained during last years manoeuvres, the Norwegian army has decided to double the number of horses used for training purposes. This is another indication that the last word has not been said as yet with regard to the use of horses for military purposes under modern combat conditions.

'CHASER ON SIDELINES

Around the 1st of June Mrs. Alice Mills bought the New Zealand-bred Pacific Pact from Raymond Guest. The 5-year-old grey gelding had won his initial outing over brush when he raced most convincingly in the William Skinner Memorial at the Middleburg Hunt Races. A few days after his change in owners, *Pacific Pact was working on the track at Belmont Park when he cracked a cannon bone. It's back to the farm for a long rest and recovery.

AT DEVON

Mrs. Dwight Winkleman of Southern Pines, looking like one of the many fashion models, watched her son "Cappy" win the $1,000 working hunter stake with a splendid round on his father's hunting hunter Little Trip. The breeding classes were unusually well filled and the early morning spectators were busily engaged in wishing they could buy the horse of their choice. You couldn't go wrong on any of them. Saturday night at the close of the third jump off for the $1,000 open jumper stake found most of the audience sitting watching for more — at 12:40 p. m. A fine tribute to a great show.

CADILLAC—FOX HOUNDS—DEER

Cubbing one morning up north several years ago, hounds went away. The Master and field followed. The music of hounds was such that it became clear the field was in for a run. After some time the Master realized hounds were headed toward a four-lane highway and he had the whip call them off. No sooner had he done this than there was an almighty crash and the sound of broken glass. Moving cautiously forward, the Master looked out on to the parkway. A brand new Cadillac had its front smashed in and on the road lay a dead deer! In a flash the Master turned and called to the field, "Get going as fast as you can. We were after deer!" Like Robin Hood's men, the field slipped silently into the woods and made for home.

MATRON

Tetramar, winner of the brood mare class, seemed very much at home in the ring where she retired the Geist Challenge Trophy for Hunters Under Side Saddle a couple of years ago for her owner Mrs. Howe Lowe. Now retired to the nursery and the property of Mr. & Mrs. Samuel F. Pancoast she had a handsome bay suckling colt at her side at The Devon Horse Show.

At the last Genesee Valley Breeders Association meeting, the guest speaker was Dave Kelley. Dave was given the job of answering some questions that the breeders in the Genesee Valley had in mind. It all added up to a most interesting session.

SEDFIELD HUNT CLUB

The annual meeting of the Sedgfield Hunt Club was held May 24 at the Sedgfield Inn. Members unanimously re-elected Nathan M. Ayers and Charles Kearns as Joint-Masters and Kenneth Schwabenton as secretary-treasurer. Stark S. Dillard was forced by his health to resign from the executive committee and his place was filled by Dr. A. T. Smith, a long-time member of the hunt. Elected to serve with him were Dan Whitaker, Claude Sutton, Sr. and Jack Rochelle.

Miss Natalie Carter was chosen to receive the Tryon Trophy awarded each year to the member under 18 who has shown the greatest improvement, enthusiasm and loyalty in the hunting field. The only regret members had was that there were not a dozen trophies to be given this year to the youngsters of the Club who had added so much to our season's sport.

—Audrey T. Betts

DISBANDED

Word has been received from the Masters of Foxhounds Association that John S. Gregory, MFH of the Princess Anne Hunt, is giving up that pack which is to be disbanded. Mr. Gregory cites poor health as the principal reason for this move. The pack has been taken over by a group near Chattanooga, Tennessee, which has organized the Dogwood Hunt. The latter has applied to the MFH Association for registered status.

Saratoga Yearlings

12 Yearlings by these 9 sires

Citation

A colt from first crop by one of America's greatest horses.

Royal Charger*

A filly by this amazing leading sire in England-Ireland-America. 1953.

Menow

A colt by sire of the "Horses of the Year" Capot and Tom Fool.

Niccolo dell'Arca

A colt by leading Italian sire, prominent English sire.

Princequillo*

A colt by this outstanding sire of classic horses here and abroad.

Some Chance

A colt and a filly by this consistently high ranking sire.

Pavot

Two colts by this sire of 7 stakes winners from first two crops.

Shut Out

A filly by the sire of 1953's champion filly Evening Out.

Faultless

Filly by the young sire and winner of $304,000 including Preakness.

Plan to visit Nydrie Stud in Virginia this spring and look over these yearlings. Their quality is the quality of their sires (plus the grand band of mares that Nydrie has always possessed) and their sires are the world's leading sires and race horses.
